The Retirement (?) of Levin Houston

The summer news story simply stated that "Levin Houston, III, 69, retired today from his position as an Associate Professor of Music at Mary Washington College," leaving those who might not know him with the impression that just another "old prof" had decided to call it a career so as to spend his final years in tranquil reminiscence.

But the way the vivacious Mr. Houston sees it, his leaving MWC is hardly a retirement at all.

"It's just the end of another facet of my life," he says with a boyish smile. "I've always had more than enough to keep me occupied. Oh, I'm definitely going to miss my classes, but you know, there's almost never been a time in my life when I wasn't at least double moonlighting on my main job, and the present time is no exception. And it's these areas which will keep me busy."

The wide-ranging list of activities in which Mr. Houston is now 'moonlighting' includes: collecting antiques; writing music (both jazz and symphonic); reviewing books, concerts and plays for the Fredericksburg Free Lance-Star (he has in the last year reviewed almost 200 books as well as 80 dramatic and musical presentations); maintaining his prize-winning garden (and writing a weekly gardening column); as well as playing piano with his own jazz combo.

He and his wife, the former Betsy Embrey, live in Fredericksburg in a remarkable house which was featured last year on the Garden Week Tour. Their residence, though built in 1938, is a copy of the Silversmith House, one of Fredericksburg's earliest homes, and was constructed using only 18th Century brick and slate.

The furnishings of the house are primarily English 18th Century period antiques, with a smattering of French and American pieces from the same period. There are various artifacts from other periods – including two original Picasso ceramic works – and tastefully located throughout the house are several unique chandeliers as well as a number of antique vases, decanters, oriental rugs and whatnots. And of particular note in the dining room is a hand-carved wooden mantel from England, dating from the time of Cromwell.

The Houston residence in Fredericksburg was built along the lines of the Silversmith House

TAUGHT AT MWC FOR 35 YEARS

Mr. Houston had been teaching at the College for 35 years when he announced this summer that he would not be returning in the fall to conduct classes on Marye's Heights. At the time, he gave no public reason for the decision, and some people wondered about his health. But he laughed that suggestion off.

"My health is fine," he states, brushing away the question with a vibrant flip of the hand as he seats himself in one of his living room's antique chairs. "I haven't even had a cold for three years."

Behind him is a tall wooden casing filled with tier upon tier of phonograph albums in sets: operas, symphonies, groups of contemporary pieces. To his left near the window which looks out over the green split-level garden is his work table, cluttered with scores-in-progress, a miniscule red typewriter and a handsome photograph of his daughter, Dulcy, who is now a senior editor with Ginn & Co., a textbook firm in Bedford, Massachusetts.

"In fact," he adds, "in thirty-five years at Mary Washington, I believe I missed fewer than ten days worth of classes, and four of those were for family funerals. And there was only one time when I was really down with the flu."

Levin Houston called himself "the only Fredericksburger" on the College faculty, for even though he was born in Baltimore, he has spent most of his life in the quiet Virginia town. As a youth, the arts -- and particularly music – were a significant factor in his life. His parents pushed the violin on him at an early age but, he says, his ear was good enough even then to know that the "horrible sounds" he was making would never mesh into music. So he began, on his own, to learn how to play the piano (which suited his ear much better), and he's been at it ever since.

As a teenager, though, he never looked on music as an academic discipline. "It was an avocation," he says. "I could make money playing the piano in a dance band. Academics were for something else."

Just a beginning: Levin Houston (third from right) with the VMI Dance Band in 1922

Beginning in 1922, he went to the Virginia Military Institute in Lexington and majored in English. He spent his spare time, however, playing with the school's dance band, and he spent his summers performing with a jazz group on trans-Atlantic ocean liners. He admits now that during that time he tried to play on the boats which would be going into drydock for a time upon reaching Europe, so that he and his friends could see as much of the continent as possible.

"We didn't get paid for playing on the boats," he says. "But it paid for our passage across and back. It was the only way then that I could have gone to Europe, since I couldn't have afforded it otherwise. My first seven trips to Europe were made that way, including my wedding trip. Some men then would have worried about having their mothers-in-law come along on their honeymoon – well, I took four musicians along on mine!"

Yet music, which admittedly played a big role in Levin Houston's early life, was characteristically never the center of his attention. He took up anything he found to be enjoyable. For example, he was already a suitably talented painter, having begun sketching at the age of nine, and he was certainly an avid reader.

He was graduated in English from VMI at age 20 and was asked to teach history, of all things, at the Institute. He accepted the offer and was promptly given charge of six sections of "Rat" (freshman) history, a fare which he found too dry. So while still teaching, he took courses in aesthetics, criticism and drama at nearby Washington and Lee University, and in the meantime decided to become a self-supporting commercial artist.

OFF TO NEW YORK TO STUDY ART

His ambition took him to New York City, where he did "everything under the sun while studying art. Anything to support myself." So, among other odd jobs, Levin Houston sold furniture, worked in a bookstore and took bit parts in Broadway shows. But, at age 23, the painter "ran out of steam." The realization that he would never make a living as an artist struck home hard and he would not touch the brush again until he was past 40.

"I've never had a great ability in any of the arts," he says modestly, "but I've made money in all of them. Anything that looked like fun, I'd give it a try. Let's say I'd rush in where angels feared to tread. Sometimes it worked out, sometimes it didn't. But I'm interested equally in all the arts, equally appreciative."

One who has read his critiques on books, plays and concerts (written for many years under the pen name of 'George St. Julian') will readily sense his understanding of the nature of the various arts. He knows each discipline's history, and he can place today's piece or production in significant perspective. However, he can also take into account the various extenuating circumstances of a dramatic or musical production – he will ordinarily ease up, for example, on a local theater group which is performing for a benefit – but he will be exacting with a professional troupe performing in George Washington Auditorium or at Wolftrap Farm or the Kennedy Center.

Not an ivory tower critic, Levin Houston has done his own share of performing, too, and not only in the music hall but in dramatic roles as well. He was, for many years, quite the leading man for the plays put on by the drama department of the College. Of some note is the fact that, soon after he began teaching at the College, he played the lead role in the first play ever to have a flesh-and-blood male play the male role in a dramatic performance. Up until that time – the 1939-1940 school year – male roles were played by the students of the then all-female school. It was with the January 18, 1940 production of Berkeley Square, with Levin Houston on stage, that the tradition was broken. (One further historical note: that play also happened to be the inaugural of the Auditorium of George Washington Hall, which had recently been constructed). And in the years to come it was Levin Houston, along with Dean Alvey and several other stalwarts of the faculty and administration who carried on as the male leads in the various productions of the College.

"WE WERE CONSTANTLY PERFORMING"

Those same years would see the busy Levin Houston giving three or four music recitals per year in addition to his skits and productions for the various club talent shows and his work with the music and dance companies of the school.

"It seems we were constantly performing," he marvels. "There were three dance clubs, each of which would need music. There were dances on Saturday night. There were the May Day festivals, chapel programs and also the convocations. Always something going on. And for a couple of years I was teaching ten per cent of the student body, too."

(It had been because of his popularity as a Fredericksburg area piano teacher that he came to MWC in the first place. In fact, he claims to be the only faculty member of the College who did not apply for the job. "They applied to me," he explains. "I was living in Fredericksburg, teaching piano, and it so happened that many of my students were enrolled in the College. But of course these were private lessons and the girls got no credit for learning piano from me. So the College asked me to give my lessons as a faculty member so the students could get credit. So all I did for my first few years at the College was teach piano. At times I would teach up to one hundred in class piano along with 50 or 60 private students, totaling some 150 out of a student population of 1,500. "

He continues, "I'd be teaching piano from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. with a half hour for lunch, which is a ridiculous schedule, but one you could expect when you're teaching ten per cent of the student body. And remember, though, that these were students on a fee basis. With that many students, I believe that for several years I was making more money than Dr. Combs (College President). But then we cut out class piano and things became easier and I was fully assimilated into the department and began to teach the various courses – introductory music, opera, and so on.")

As the years passed, he continued to expand his fields of interest.

He took up painting again, working furiously with water colors and oil. "For about five years," he says, "I did about 200 or so paintings a year, but then all of the sudden I knew I had said all I had wanted to say with that medium, so I dropped it again."

"WHEN I DON'T ENJOY MYSELF, I GET OUT"

He adds, "I suppose it's like everything else I do: I plunge right in, enjoy myself, and when I don't enjoy myself any more, I get out."

During this time he began writing book reviews for the local paper ("I have read three or four books a week for as long as I can remember, so writing reviews is just an extension of that."). He branched out in the field of music (on one project he wrote a concerto for Artie Shaw which later became a full symphonic piece). He began writing a gardening column for a monthly magazine and was later to become The Lazy Gardener in the local newspaper. And he began his own jazz combo to play at parties and dances around Fredericksburg.

And when you mix all of this with 35 years of teaching, extensive traveling in Europe and the Middle East, a lifetime of collecting antiques as well as countless other characteristic projects, what you end up with is an extremely busy and fulfilling life.

"I don't remember a moment when I wasn't doing something," he emphasizes. "I've never enjoyed television, and don't watch it at all, as it would take up too much time. I've never liked sports, either, as I'm not a very competitive person. But I enjoy doing things. Yet I have to enjoy what I'm doing."

In that light, he mentioned his retirement from the College. "I like teaching the classes, I always have. But, after thirty-five years, the bloom is off the rose. I'll miss the students, the classes, but not the class preparations, the paperwork, the faculty meetings, the committee meetings, all the trappings necessary to being a teacher.

" As I said, this 'retirement' isn't really an ending, it's just the end of one of the phases of my life. Really, it's hardly a true retirement at all."

True retirement or not, does he want to travel again, as many 'liberated' persons would want to do?

"No," he says with a smile. "For one thing we're housebound by a magnificent Siamese cat by the name of William Buford Beauregard – Billy – who won't let us go. And besides that," he adds in understatement, "there are so many things to do here, I just can't leave."

Spotlight Department:

Geology

To one faculty member, it is "the study of the earth and its evolution." To the other, it is "the study of the wonderscape around us, all the fascinating phenomena and material within our planet, on its surface, and in the space surrounding it."

What is it they're talking about?

Geology.

It's one of the more than 30 major fields available to students at Mary Washington College, and though it is a relatively 'small' department - some departments have more than a dozen faculty members - it is, like each department, vitally important to the academic life of the College.

So with this inaugural 'spotlight' article, and with those to appear in forthcoming issues of MWC Today, we hope to provide our readers with some insight into the various academic departments at the College.

"Most science today is rather abstract and much of geology is, too," admits Dr. Samuel O. Bird, chairman of MWC's busy two-man Department of Geology. "However, in studying the earth and its evolution, the student becomes aware of nature as such - not an abstraction but as it is seen day-to-day and as it relates to man and his activities."

Bird: "recognizing changes."

Stoblein: making students "more cognizant of the relationship of man to his surroundings."

"And this awareness," adds Dr. Newton K. Stablein, Assistant Professor, "can only make the student more cognizant of the relationship of man to his surroundings. On the practical level, in studying geology the student can acquire a scientific background to understand the major energy and environmental issues of our day. So geology isn't just for those interested in science, it's for anyone who wants to better understand the physical world around him."

To that end, says Stablein, who recently received his Ph.D. from Northwestern University, "Mary Washington College has one of the finest sets of introductory courses available anywhere. There are no bulky survey courses, but there are 4 one-semester courses on specific topics, and the subject matter in one course does not duplicate that in another."

These introductory courses are: Earth Drama, a study of earthquakes and volcanoes and their relationship to the major concepts of tectonics, continental drift and sea floor spreading; Continental Processes, which examines the processes involved in the continual buildup and breakdown of continental land masses; Atmosphere and Hydrosphere, which focuses on the varied geological aspects of the oceans; and Geology Today, which treats areas of geology important to man's activities, such as energy resources, mineral resources and environmental geology.

Dr. Bird, who holds a Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina, notes that there is also "a wide variety of courses available at the upper level, including petrology, paleocology, physical oceanography and geophysics, which we have recently added to go along with our standard courses like geochemistry, mineralogy and the study of ancient biological systems."

In addition to the department's classroom activities, it also sponsors occasional field trips and special seminars such as the one held September 20 when female geologists from the U.S. Geological Survey visited MWC and spoke to students about how they entered the field, how the opportunities are for women in the field, and about up-to-date research techniques.

"It's such a wide-open field," Stablein says. " The geologist's concerns range from the domain of pure research to the most current environmental problems. And in between there are so many marvels a geologist has to contemplate and try to understand - the formation of the Himalayas, for example, or the perfection of a 64-sided garnet crystal."

"And yet," Bird notes, "while it is true that the distribution of rocks, mountains and oceans is important or geology and are carefully studied for the several phases of earth history, the real body of knowledge involves the process of recognizing changes and determining the reasons for the changes."

"So," Stablein adds, "we're teaching students about the world around them, so that they can become more conscious of its beauty, its complexity, and its amazing history."

Men On Campus, Enrollment Up As School Year Opens

A full male residence hall at the formerly all-female Mary Washington College was the center of attention as school opened this year on August 27.

Males now constitute slightly under ten per cent of the student body of 2,100 students, and 48 men are now housed in Madison Hall on the central campus. These men comprise the first group of males to reside on campus in the College's long history.

During the three years since the College became coeducational, the handful of men who were full-time residential students were housed at Trench Hill, a former private residence blocks away from the main campus. Last year, however, with the projected increase of male applications, College officials decided to move the men on campus and declared one of the primary residence halls - one of the buildings in the complex known as 'Tri-Unit' - as a male housing unit.

Enrollment - male and female combined - was up slightly this year over last year, according to H. Conrad Warlick, Director of Admissions and Financial Aid. He says that this year's freshman class, which numbers slightly over 625, ranks very highly (70th percentile) among nationwide freshmen taking College Boards. He also says that 60 per cent of this year's MWC freshmen graduated in the top fifth of their individual high school classes.

In addition, he points out, there are in this freshman class twenty-five "Regional Scholars" - students who were selected from the various districts of Virginia and the surrounding states on the basis of academics and given substantial scholarships to attend MWC.

Library Receives Grant

MWC's E. Lee Trinkle Library has received $4,235 from the U.S. Office of Education for the purchase of back-issue periodicals and microfilm on which to store past issues of magazines and newspapers.

The funds were acquired by the College under the Library Sources Grant program of the Office of Education, a part of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Sports Teams Winning

The MWC tennis team is so far undefeated in intercollegiate play. As of October 20, the team record is 8 wins and 0 losses, and each of the singles players (Mary Beth Hatem of Havre de Grace, Md.; Beverley Wilson of Harrisonburg, Va.; and Kathy Cesky of Bel Air, Md.) is undefeated in individual matches.

The field hockey team, with top scorers Lori Skeen of Glen Riddle, Pa., and Patty Foder of Alexandria, Va., has thus far compiled a record of 5 wins, 3 losses and 2 ties, with 3 games yet to play.

Financial Aid, Admissions Joined

To more closely relate the admissions and student financial-aid functions of Mary Washington College, President Woodard announced the placement of both operations under a single Director of Admissions and Financial Aid effective September 1, 1974. The College's Director of Admissions, Dr. H. Conrad Warlick, has assumed the title of Director of Admissions and Financial Aid.

During the past several years, the financial-aid operation has functioned in association with the Office of the Registrar. The coordination of financial aid with admissions will permit the Office of the Registrar to concentrate on the several important professional aspects of the official academic records office of the College.

The registrar of Mary Washington College, Anne Hilgartner Bruckner, a 1961 graduate of MWC, who has also had the responsibility for financial aid, will continue in her capacity as the Registrar.

She's Not Just Another Smith

It's not unusual for the student roster at MWC to have the name of 'Smith' included many times, but recently there has been a succession of Smiths coming to the College from the same family.

Jeannette Smith, who entered MWC this year as a freshman, is the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Smith of McLean, Va., to attend the College. She was preceeded here by sisters Shirley, Diane and Leslie, who were members of the Classes of 1972, 1973 and 1974 respectively.

Both Shirley and Diane have followed their father into U.S. foreign service, and at present Shirley is stationed in Brazil while Diane is with the State Depatment in Washington, D.C. Leslie, who left MWC after two years to go into nursing, is working at a Washington, D.C., hospital and is continuing her studies in nursing.

Jeannette, who by the way was born in Tokyo and was raised in Malaysia, Vietnam and several other Southeast Asia ports of call, is, like her two older sisters, leaning toward majoring in Pre-Foreign Service at MWC.

And though she is the fourth in her family to attend MWC, she says she might not be the last - coming up right behind her are brother David, 16, and sisters Valerie, 14, Nicki, 13, and Connie, 11.

From the looks of it, the Smiths of McLean are well on their way to challenging the existing family attendance record - six - held by the Barretts of Stafford County, Va.

Wattenberg Publishes Treatise and Book

A demographic treatise by Ben Wattenberg, a Professor-at-Large at Mary Washington College, has recently been published by the Ziff-Davis Company of New York.

In the study, entitled "The Forming Families," Wattenberg deals with the preponderance of young married couples and their effect on the economy of the United States. By citing such trends as the decrease in the number of young men in the military, the older average age for marriage and the limiting of offspring, the author of "This U.S.A." and "The Real Majority" details the disproportionate economic power held by the 20- to 30-year old products of the "baby boom" following World War II.

The author, who in the past year taught a Mary Washington College class on national political trends, has written another book, "The Real America," which was published in September. The new book, which was given extensive coverage by an August issue of Time magazine, deals with changing attitudinal, demographic, social and economic trends in America.

Mr. Wattenberg was also able to express his studied opinions on these areas in a guest essay in an August issue of Newsweek magazine.

Award Named For Miss Clement

An award at a Virginia high school has been named in honor of a member of the Mary Washington College faculty.

"The Clement Award for Girl Athletes," named for Miss Juanita Clement, an associate professor of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, has been established at Radford High School in Radford, Va.

The award, which will be presented annually, was named by the high school administration in honor of Miss Clement, who taught physical education there from 1945 to 1963 and who is credited with strengthening the program there by establishing interscholastic and intramural programs.

Miss Clement has been a member of the faculty of MWC since 1969.

MWC Receives $750,000

It was announced over the summer that Mary Washington College had received a scholarship fund of $750,000 from an anonymous donor. The fund is the College's largest ever received for the purpose of providing scholarships. The monies and securities which comprise the gift have been added, for the time being, to the Pooled Endowment Fund of the College which is administered by Wheat Advisory Services in Richmond, Va.

Kemp Attends Special Seminar

Mr. William Kemp, an assistant professor of English at MWC, spent most of his summer in Princeton, N.J., attending a special seminar on playwright William Shakespeare.

Kemp, 32, is a member of the Shakespeare Society of America and is back at MWC this fall teaching the course "Shakespeare: The Early Plays," in addition to his regular creative writing workshops and his classes on literature.

The eight-week summer course which he attended was entitled 'Shakespeare's Development - a Dramatist' and was part of a series of seminars held at major educational centers under the sponsorship of the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). The overall seminar program, introduced two years ago by NEH, is aimed at providing college teachers with opportunities to work with distinguished scholars in their fields.

The Shakespeare seminar at Princeton University was headed by Dr. Daniel Seltzer, a member of the Princeton faculty who is a former lecturer at Shakespeare institutes in England and in Stratford, Conn.

Traffic Light Installed at College Gates

Free-wheeling traffic along College Avenue has been curtailed by the addition of a traffic light at the College gates (right). As a result, students, faculty, staff and other persons using the main road through the College now have a much less hazardous entrance onto College Avenue, particularly during the morning and late afternoon rush hours.

Undergraduate Grants

During the 1973-1974 school year at Mary Washington College, eleven grants for undergraduate research were awarded to fifteen students for study on such varied subjects as the efficiency of the East Coast Pipeline, the physiographic mapping of Virginia, and the national citizen's lobby, Common Cause.

Approximately $2,050 was extended by the College toward the completion of the eleven projects.

The ongoing undergraduate research program is aimed at fostering in-depth studies by upper-level students in individual fields of interest. Often the projects are taken as part of an independent study curriculum or as part of an honors program. But in either case, high scholarship is expected on all projects, and the final reports are housed in the College Archives in E. Lee Trinkle Library.

Some other projects last year were: "The Effect of Drugs on Wild and Domestic Mice"; "Land Use in Fredericksburg, Va., 1954-1969"; "The Aims and Goals of the Democratic Senate Campaign Committee"; and "The Kahuki Actor in Action."

Short Story Wins Contest

A short story by Daniel Dervin, an assistant professor of English at MWC, was awarded first prize in Norfolk's annual Irene Leache Memorial Contest for prose and poetry.

The selection of Dervin's 2,300 word "On the Glass Mountain" for the Anna Cogwell Wood prize in the Leache Contest included $300 in prize money.

The Irene Leache Memorial Contest is a regional literary contest in its fifty-sixth year of operation. Most of the entries, which include poems, essays, and prose works, come from writers in Virginia and North Carolina. This year there were 104 entries in the short story competition.

Dervin says that "On the Glass Mountain" is set in winter during the early 1940's. According to the author, the story is "about a child in the Midwest who is delivering a telegram to a neighboring family, an official telegram which will tell them their son has been killed in a recent battle in World War II."

Dervin added that the story was part of a series of stories dealing with the subject of growing up in the Midwest. He noted that "On the Glass Mountain" is the first of these stories "in final publishable form," but that he is continuing to work on the others.

Over the past few years, Dervin has been busy on another writing project, however. His book, "George Bernard Shaw: A Psychological Study," will be published this year.

He has also done several articles of psychoanalysis of the cinema for "The Psychoanalytic Review" and "Psychology and the Humanities."

Dervin, 39, a native of Omaha, Nebraska, has been associated with Mary Washington College since 1967.

Faculty Members Head Units

Elizabeth Clark, professor and chairman of the department of religion, has been elected president of the Fredericksburg area chapter of the National Organization for Women.

Mary Jo Parrish, professor of biology, was recently named coordinator of the local unit of Common Cause, the national nonpartisan citizens lobby headed by John Gardner in Washington, D.C.

Board of Visitors Holds Fall Meeting

Lewis M. Walker, Jr., of Petersburg, Va., has been reelected Rector of the MWC Board of Visitors. The election of officers took place during the Board's quarterly meeting held September 13-14.

Newly elected officers are Mrs. Katherine E. Hopper, Vice Rector, and Mrs. Gwendolyn A. Cumming, Secretary. Each of the elections is for a two year term.

Walker, president of Builders Supply Co., in Petersburg, has served as Rector since the inception of the Board two years ago.

Mrs. Hopper, of Fairfax, Va., served for the past two years as Secretary of the Board. A 1929 graduate of MWC, she recently retired as Director of Pupil Services for the Fairfax County Public School and this past summer served as Director of the Governor's School for the Gifted held at MWC.

Mrs. Cumming, of Hampton, Va., has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Junior League of Hampton Roads and is a member of the Dixie Hospital Association. A 1952 graduate of MWC, she is a former vice president of the College Alumni Association.

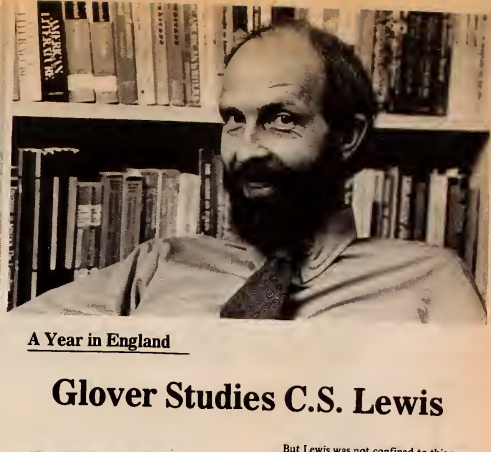
Mr. Walker, Mrs. Hopper and Mrs. Cumming will serve on the executive committee of the Board along with Mrs. Irene Lundy Brown, of Newport News, Va., and Mr. Ralph M. Whittikar, Jr., of Fredericksburg, who were elected to the committee for one year terms.

In other action, the Board gave its approval for a state-supported child development clinic to be opened at Trench Hill, the former private residence which during the past few years has served as the College's male residence hall. The regional clinic, which will be serving the Fredericksburg area as a center for diagnostic work and remedial programs for pre-school and school-age children and young adults with learning disabilities, will be the tenth such clinic in the State. The clinics are sponsored by the Bureau of Child Health, a part of the State Department of Health. It is anticipated that the clinic here will provide a training program for MWC students in such fields as psychology and sociology.

In personnel matters, the Board elected three new faculty members and appointed Mr. George Forrest Dickinson, Jr., as Assistant Director of Admissions and Financial Aid.

Elected to the faculty were Miss Sherrill Martin as Assistant Professor of Music, Mr. John Pickerill as Assistant Professor of Economics, and Mrs. Gisela Fashing as Acting Assistant Professor of Biology, replacing Mr. Michael Bass, whose leave of absence to complete his doctoral work was extended through January, 1975.

The election of Mr. Dickinson as Assistant Director of Admissions and Financial Aid follows the announcement that the financial aid duties formerly associated with the Office of the Registrar have been shifted to the Office of Admissions. It is expected that Mr. Dickinson, who has been an Admissions Counselor at MWC for three years, will work with the financial aid aspects of the office in addition to his recruiting work.



A Year in England

Glover Studies C.S. Lewis

"We almost ran out of coal three or four times," admits Donald Glover, the MWC professor of English who spent the 1973-1974 academic year in England working on a critical study of novelist C.S. Lewis. "But we weren't badly touched by the strikes, the shortages or the three-day work week. Not like the working people were. But then we weren't living directly off of the economy, either."

On leave of absence from MWC, Glover spent most of his time in England in the library at Oxford University, poring over the papers and letters - many yet unpublished - of the late C.S. Lewis, the Englishman noted for The Chronicles of Narnia, Til We Have Faces and The Screwtape Letters. Glover had been granted access to the papers by the trustees of the Lewis estate, and he made the most of his time.

"The book is about two-thirds or three-quarters completed," says the 41-year-old professor. "It's a critical study of Lewis' theory of fiction as applied to his writings, so of course it was essential to go to the facilities where his papers are housed."

C. S. Lewis (1898 - 1963) is noted for his allegorical works, according to Glover. "Some people call them fairy tales, but they are meant to be read on two levels. Lewis, along with J.R.R. Tolkien and Charles Williams, knew the value of 'fairy stories'. In fact, they resurrected the form. Tolkien's 1935 lecture on fairy tales is quite a significant statement in this line."

Glover was planning to meet with Tolkien in England, but the master of The Lord of the Rings died shortly after Glover's arrival there.

"There are similarities between Lewis and Tolkien," Glover admits, "but Lewis is much more allegorical. Til We Have Faces, for example, is really a retelling of the Cupid-Psyche myth. And The Screwtape Letters, published at the height of World War II, is a cleverly done examination of the real forces of evil in the world, and how people react to it."

Lewis, Tolkien and several other contemporary authors are the core subjects of a new course at MWC, Fantasy in 20th Century Literature, being taught by Glover.

But Lewis was not confined to this genre. "He was very prolific," Glover says. "He was involved in a wide variety of writings, including a preface to Paradise Lost, some science fiction, several semi-theological works. And during his career he taught at Oxford and later became a professor at Cambridge."

As to Lewis' popularity, Glover says that most of the academic work on the Englishman's writing is being done in America, and that much of his readership is harbored here. "I don't know why it should be that way," Glover says. "He was an English writer."

Glover's family, including wife Alice and their four children, arrived in England on August 17, 1973, and remained there exactly one year. They lived in a house not ½ mile from the former Lewis residence, and they often strolled in the park Lewis was known to frequent.

For recreation between the parents' work sessions and the children's school terms, the Glovers managed to tour much of the island. They included trips through Scotland and Wales in the little car they purchased there from Bill Atalay, the MWC professor of physics who was finishing his year as a researcher in theoretical nuclear physics at Hertford College at Oxford University.

And in between the traveling and the work on Lewis, Glover was still able to "tie up some loose ends," which included publishing an article on Bret Harte. That article, "A Reconsideration of Bret Harte's Later Work," appeared in the Fall, 1973 issue of Western American Literature.

"There seems to have been somewhat of a revival concerning Harte," Glover says. "At present I'm editing his letters to his protegée. There has been some interest in seeing them published even though the woman, Florence Henniker, never did achieve any lasting prominence, despite all that Harte could do to help her."

In Memoriam

Vladimir Brenner, Professor Emeritus

Professor Emeritus Vladimir Brenner, 78, died of emphysema on September 7 at his home in Fredericksburg. He taught at the College from 1944 - 1961 in the Department of Modern Foreign Languages.

A native of Moscow, Russia, he graduated from the Imperial Military Academy at Tver and during World War I was assigned to special studies in military science and government. He fled to Germany during the Russian Revolution and joined a group of liberal Russian exiles dedicated to informing the world about the tyranny of the Communists.

His foremost concern was the fate of the Russian Church. He lectured and wrote widely on the subject. One of his books, "Russia in the Name of God," was translated into English and published by Appleton & Co., New York, before be came to this country in 1941.

He taught Russian and German at Harvard University and also in summer sessions at Middlebury College and the College of William and Mary before coming to MWC in 1944.

He is survived by his wife, Anna.

Boyce Loving

Mr. Boyce Loving, 75, who at one time in his long career as a playwright and newspaperman was head of the dramatics department at the State Teachers College in Fredericksburg, died June 7, 1974, in Charlottesville.

Mr. Loving, who is described in Dr. Edward Alvey's History of Mary Washington College as being "talented and versatile," served on the College faculty for only one year, 1937 - 1938, but still managed to involve himself in a wide variety of activities. He is still remembered for his production of the gala pageant which marked the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the school which that year was changing its name to Mary Washington College.

That show, called "The Four Winds," was a feature of the 1938 commencement exercises, and was written and produced entirely by Mr. Loving. According to Dr. Alvey's book, "the pageant was an elaborate affair, depicting salient events in the history of Fredericksburg and of the College from the landing of Captain John Smith to the present. A cast of hundreds of students and townspeople were involved in the numerous episodes of the production." Held in the auditorium of James Monroe High School in Fredericksburg, the show was a success and was the talk of the town for weeks.

Mr. Loving, who succeeded Miss Roberta Louise Barnett as head of the dramatics department, came to the College from newspaper work in Richmond. He was a graduate of the University of Richmond and held a master's degree from Columbia University. He had already written several plays by the time he came to Fredericksburg.

While at the College, Mr. Loving penned and produced an original play, "Little Geraldine," a three act comedy about college life. The play had its premiere in the auditorium of Monroe Hall, played in and around Fredericksburg, and was later published on the national level.

After leaving Mary Washington College, he returned to journalism and during the 1940's was press attache and director of information for the U.S. embassies in Guatemala, Honduras and Chile. He then returned to newspaper work and was, until his retirement, a feature reporter on the daily paper in Charlottesville, Va.

During his career as a writer, he published 14 plays and received numerous awards. Also an ardent conservationist, he received the Governor's Conservation Award in 1966.

What About Alumni?

In our continuing random search through the files of the Alumni Association to find out just what MWC alumni are doing with their liberal arts and sciences degrees, we have tallied a long list of names with a wide-ranging selection of occupations and careers. A sampling of these names and careers was presented in the August issue of MWC Today. For your information and enjoyment, here is a further glimpse at what MWC alumni are doing:

Virginia Felts Brown, '50
President, MWC Alumni Association

Now that we are well into the "Woodard Era" at MWC, it is exciting to report that the outlook for the future is most encouraging. Faculty, students and alumni who have met our new president have been most impressed with his contagious enthusiasm for continued progress and further development of the College.

As I have stated before, the Alumni Association should become more involved in the College and play a more decisive role in the life and policy making. Dr. Woodard welcomes this desired involvement and is eager for alumni support. Early in his administration, he asked Diana Koski, our Director of Alumni Affairs, to serve on his President's Advisory Council which is made up of College administrators; several alumni met with the College Board of Visitors at various committee meetings at the September Board meeting; he has requested the aid of our office on several occasions to help with College programs. All of which goes to show that the avenues for possible involvement and increased service to the College are open and all the lights are green. The rest is up to us.

The ever-needed fund provides those tangible means of support that we are able to supply to the College, and committee work, chapter members, and untiring Class Agents keep the Association alive. These are all vital and we are most anxious for all of these areas to increase and grow.

One way that each and every reader of this column can aid the College is in the area of recruitment. Dr. Woodard and the College Board of Visitors are deeply committed to the liberal arts education which attempts to teach the essential values of human beings. This type of college is being threatened in our career-oriented technical society. Being State-supported, the time may come that the College will be under pressure to change its direction. If those of us who value the type of education that we were able to receive at MWC actively recruit the desirable type of students to come here and keep the enrollment up, then the worth of a liberal arts college will speak for itself. This is prime time for recruitment, as high school students are making decisions as to what colleges they wish to apply.

It behooves us all to get busy.

Distinguished Alumnus Award Open To Nominations for 1975

June Christian Tuttle, '53, Chairman of the 1975 Distinguished Alumnus Award Committee, is asking your cooperation in seeking qualified nominees.

The award is given annually to an alumnus who has been distinguished in a profession, the arts or sciences, or humanitarian causes.

Nominations are encouraged from any individual. The following information should be included in a letter of nomination: reasons for nomination, other references who may be contacted, and the address and name of the person making the nomination.

Any alumnus, with the exception of current members of the Board of Directors, is eligible for the award.

Nominations must be received by December 1, 1974, and may be sent to Mrs. June C. Tuttle, D.A. Chairman, Box 1315 College Station, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401.

Need an unusual gift?
The Mary Washington College seal is available in a linen crewel kit to be embroidered in blue and gold. This may be framed or used as a pillow top.

Please indicate your choice of color (blue or gold) and send your check or money order in the amount of $3.50 (includes postage and insurance) to: A. Isabel Gordon, Fredericksburg Chapter, MWC Alumni Association, Box 1318, College Station, Fredericksburg, Virginia, 22401.

Chapter News

The Colgate Dardan Chapter of the MWC Alumni Association met at the Cypress Grove Country Club in Franklin, Va., for their summer meeting. A dutch treat luncheon was served by the club staff.

The Tidewater Chapter of the MWC Alumni Association held an informal get-together this summer for incoming MWC freshmen from the Tidewater area. The hostess for the event was Ann Tamkin, '54, whose daughter, Donna, happens to be a member of the new freshman class at MWC.

The first official meeting of the Chapter for the 1974-1975 year was held on September 21 at the home of Angela Wyche, '48. The guest speaker at the meeting was Mrs. Richard M. Keever, who spoke on the intriguing topic, "Witches in Virginia."

Any alumni moving into the Southside Virginia area should contact Mrs. Warren Beale, Jr., in Courtland, or Mrs. N.W. Nuckols, P.O. Box 641, Franklin, about joining the Darden Chapter.

Officers elected at the spring luncheon meeting of the New Jersey Chapter of the Alumni Association are: President, Carol Mayer Hofer '70; Vice President, Kay Mizell Heppinstil '62; Treasurer, Marilyn Smith Edmunds '62; Secretary, Marilyn Salisbury Heebink '63.

Upcoming in the Chapter activities is the annual Chinese auction and luncheon on November 16 at the Sleepy Hollow Inn, Scotch Plains, New Jersey.

Thanks to the members of the Wilmington, Del., Chapter of the MWC Alumni Association, a cherry finished grandmother's clock now stands in the "living room" of the Spotswood Alumni House in Fredericksburg.

The Chapter chair sales, under the chairmanship of Sally Cohen Mand '59, had for several years sold MWC chairs to alumni, faculty, staff and other friends of the College as a money-making project. When the chair manufacturer with whom Mrs. Mand dealt, decided to discontinue its college chair sales, the Delaware Chapter wanted to do something special for Spotswood with their final chair profits. The grandmother clock was the result. Additional gifts from the Delaware Chapter have also made possible the partial re-decoration of the second floor of Spotswood.

Incoming freshmen from the Northern Virginia area were honored at a tea held by the Fairfax Chapter in August.

Highlights of last spring's activities include a luncheon with Rose Bennett Gilbert, '60, (editor, "1001 Decorating Ideas") as guest speaker, and a most successful telethon to raise money for the Alumni Fund.

At present, members are busily at work on handmade items for their boutique at the Annual Charity Fair at Tyson's Corner the week of October 19.

Nominations Needed For Alumni Association Posts

Nominations are needed for the positions of First, Second and Third Vice President of the Alumni Association for the period beginning July 1, 1975 and ending June 30, 1977.

First Vice President is responsible for planning and implementing, in cooperation with the Director of Alumni Affairs, the annual fund-raising program of the Association.

Second Vice President determines and executes plans for the annual meeting of the Association and for other major reunion activities of the alumni.

Third Vice President shall be responsible for encouraging and supporting the work of the chapters.

Nominations, including the nominee's qualifications, current address and phone number, should be submitted to the Nomination and Election Committee, Box 1315 College Station, Fredericksburg, Va., 22401 prior to November 1. All qualified nominees will be considered. Personal interviews will be conducted by the Nomination and Election Committee in deciding who will be the candidates for general election.

Dear Classmates:

Dr. Grellet Simpson and Mrs. Simpson were hoosred by the Richmond Chapter at a reception on May 19, 1974. My daughter, Virginia Johnson, and I attended. I saw Louise Milborne Clark, Marian Minor and Kathleen Graves Brooks. Kathleen and I are members of the Hanover Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy. I met lots of other nice MWC girls. Since the reception I had a note from Mrs. Simpson inviting me to "Belmont" when in Fredericksburg.

On June 27th, Anne Latane Ware invited the MWC girls to meet at her home, "Riversedge." Those present were: Edna Gibbs Hunter, '15; Matilda Hails Mann, '25; Charlotte Rice Weymouth, '15; Elsie Wood Rice, '15;Elsie Minor Edwards, '25; Virginia Bolen, '15; Idalia Bland Minnigerode, '18; Rachel Chenault Geetwood, '25; Thelma C. Minter, '21; Christine B. Alexander, '20-'21; Thelma Sutton Danter, '43; Helen Ryder Weems (Imogene Daniel's friend), Imogene Ellis Daniel , '17; Thelma Ellis Sutton, '21; Margaret Sayre Ransone, '15; Imogene D. Cummin, '59; and her 2 month-old son; Anne Latane Ware Bedinger, '13; Louise Carter Ward, '25; Juliet Ware Parker, '21 and '26; Ruth Carter Vellines, '15; and McKenree Moore of Richmood.

Imogene Daniel is planing for our annual luncheon to be held at Lowry's Restaurant on September 14 at Tappahannock. Louise Ward and I plan to attend and will take with us Bertha Scott Bass , Mary Berhol Lowry and Mildred Brown Ragland.

I have received some interesting letters from Elsie. Although she is a "homebody" and keeps the home fires burning, her family and grandchildren travel quite a bit. She wrote me of Muriel Barber's death on June 27, 1974. She was a native of Fredericksburg and had been a patient in a nursing home for several years. Elsie was privileged to attend her funeral . Our sympathy to all surviving relatives.

I head that Jean Graves Delaney's husband died recently. I noted in the Hanover County paper that Waverly Lawson's husband died on August 5, 1974. Our sympathy to both Jean and Waverly and their families.

Sarah Gouldman McAllister says her broken arm in her last accident has not healed correctly and gives her pain when she uses it.

Fonnie Ifter Bowie really enjoys her new home in Bowling Green, in walking distance of the church and many other places. Her pastor and family are especially kind to her and take her to many different churches.

After my last MWC Today, I had a nice letter from Waverly Lawson, who was kind enough to say that to read my news was like receiving a letter from "down home." She was maid of honor at the wedding of Margaret Settle.

Two letters from Margaret Sayre Ransone tell of a very active life as she visits the sick and teaches foreign born. I enjoyed a letter from Grace Beazely. I was sorry to hear her 90 year old sister had passed away in March of this year. They were very close and enjoyed each other's company. She has a "grandchild" graduating on the seventh of June from Memorial Nursing School. Virginia Saunders and I keep in touch through letters and I occasionally visit her. Am glad to report that she has done well since her broken hip. She uses a walker and maybe a cane by this time. Virginia wrote that Lois Shuman Wray, a schoolmate at MWC, had passed away in August. She had suffered from an injured toe for a long time.

On July 5-7, I attended the Centennial celebration of Gwynn's Island Baptist Church where my husband was pastor for several years. There were manyinteresting activities and I was glad to be a part of them. I was treated royally by an old friend. I had a week's vacation at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina at the same hotel I was in last summer. It was a restful change of scenery.

On August 24th, my daughter, Ann, and I drove to Culpeper Baptist Home to visit a former pastor's widow. While in Culpeper town I hunted up Virginia Bolen and visited her and sister, Mary George Bolen. Those two girls keep their hands in so many church and community affairs that they have no time left for anything else.

Love,
Ruth Carter Vellines

Dear Girls-

I hope you have had a happy summer. Summer for me means the children and grands come home to visit. And they have all been here— sons, daughters, in-laws and grandchilden (except the two oldest grandsons who were getting ready for their Junior and Sophomore years at college).

I have had a fine summer, with a visit to cousins in Maryland in May. Checking with my doctor in Richmond, I received the happy news of improved eyesight!While in Richmond, I talked with Thelma Turner Duval and found that she can read and is so very thankful. Having accepted what must be, she is at peace with herself!

Beth Hallet Goffigan, '17, lost her husband, George, on May 23, 1974. He had been in poor health for some time.

Jonette Evans Nottingham is in Mascot with her brother following catarac operations in Richmond. She also is hopeful of a return before too long to her home in Cheriton.

In place of the picnic at "Snuggly", Annie Latane Ware Bedinger had the MWC alumni meet at her home on the banks of the Rappahannock on June 27, 1974. We had a delightful time.

Since Nancy Eubank Rea happened to be visiting in Essex when we met last year for our luncheon, I wrote and told her about it this year in hopes she might come for a visit at this time, but they had already had a family reunion at "midway" this summer. They came and she said it was a real treat for her. I was telling Nancy about my first grand son, and she wrote that she had thiry-six grand children! Nancy said she was in high school with Effie Berry and had known and loved her for a long time. Effie said she would enjoy a letter from you, so get busy and write to: Mrs.Dr. M. Rea, Sr., 6912 Elm Lane, Matthews, N.C. 28105.

Rachel Messick Buchan hasn't been too well in the months just past, so will not be at our luncheon. I know she would enjoy hearing from you atIrvington, Va. 22408.

Lillie Michie Barendt has just returned from a two weeks stay in Arlington visiting her friend, Elsie and sister, Neither are well, so she goes up quite often to cheer them up. Things will be a little dull around home since most of the grandchildren have left or are leaving for various schools.

Girls—

Our fourth vice-president has sent out an S.O.S. to all class agents to please get more information about "you." I cannot get it if you don't send it to me. We would like to know about your career changes, graduate school, marriages, child statistics, retirements, vacations and hobbies, etc.

I am going September 3rd, on our annual "House-party" at my son's cottage on the Chesapeake Bay. Two of the others going are of the Class of 1918, Mary Ellen Burkes Donald and Beatrice White Minter. We will be there for two weeks.

I will be a MWC quite often this year, as one of my granddaughters is a student there— Kathy Lukhard Smith. Hope she loves it as much as I did.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Members of the Class of 1953 have honored their retiring class agent NELL McCOY Savopolous for her 17 years of service to the class. Members of the class contributed funds to purchase Nell a copy of Dr. Alvey's "History of Mary Washington College" as well as prints from Dr. Bulent Atalay's campus collection. In addition a gift in Nell's name has been given to the Alumni Scholarship fund.

During her years as class agent, Nell worked hard reporting news of her classmates, planning reunion activities and keeeping the class in touch with each other and the College.

al most perfect vision. Ida lives in Arlington by herself since her husband's death.

I seldom at my age, get a valentine, but I did this time from Bert Hallett Goffigan, Class of '18. It is nice to be remembered.

I have just heard from Ruby Beasley Douglass and found out that her husband, Hubert has been very ill. He had an emergency operation, ruptured aorta, had to have a valve put in , but with it all he came through fine.

Gladys Omohundro Horn and her husband are very busy with their church life. Her Walter has been ordained and is now giving full time to the Ministry.

Bessie Ogburn Bondurant writes: "I am sure that Gladys Horn has written you that there were three of our Class at the Homecoming on April 26 and 27. We missed you who were with us in '69— we had such a good time then. My daughter Mary took me from Richmond for the day on Saturday. Gladys Horn and her husband were there for all the functions, programs, etc. She got to see Emilie Trevett Bowman, but I missed her. Gladys and I had such a good time reminiscing and visiting together. She and her husband are a delightful couple. I was interested in reading of all the Golden Anniversaries celebrated in '73. Congratulations to all of you. My husband and I celebrated our fiftieth on June 20, 1973, too. Happy years to all of us. We have been blessed. Mary's oldest daughter will be a junior next fall at MWC making three generations from our family. We are all proud of MWC. The campus was lovely when we were there for Homecoming. Some new buildings have gone up since we were there in '69.

Now Girls, let me hear from y'all. This is the very best way to keep in touch.

Dear Classmates:

The Class of '29 was singularly honored again this year at Homecoming with the selection of Phoebe Enders Willis for the Distinguished Alumnus Award. We would like to also claim Rachael Wingfield De Angelo, who also received this award, but she expedited her studies and received her degree in 1928. She started with us as freshmen.

As you know Molly Vaughan Parrish and Camilla Moody Payne have also been recipients of this award.

This year Katherine Edmonson Hopper was reappointed to the Board of Visitors.

There were ten of our class at Homecoming.

Dorothy Pettus Darden has traveled extensively in Europe the past two summers and visited her sister in Germany. Her son is a captain in the Army and has two children. Dot received her masters from U. Va. in 1969 and is now retired from head of the math department of Wilson High in Portsmouth. She is now an editor. She is President of the Retired Teachers Luncheon Club. Dot has been a widow since August 1973.

Louise Gordon Davies has 3 daughters, 2 sons and 11 grandchildren. Her eldest granddaughter, Pam Devlin, is a senior at MWC. Her husband, Carleton, is now retired and they enjoy life in King George.

Ernestine Matthews Garrett is the Recording Secretary for the Portsmouth Chapter of the Retired Teachers Luncheon Club.

Elizabeth Gooch is now retired. She has traveled in Europe, Canada, and South America and is planning a trip through the German, Italian, Austrian, and Swiss Alps this summer. She took the AA tour to Hawaii in 1969 and while there visited Rachael Wingfield DeAngelo.

Others present were Edna May Johnson Frost, Katherine Edmonson Hopper, Camilla Moody Payne, Virginia F. Ruff, and Phoebe Enders Willis.

As for myself, I am enjoying retirement in the "Land of Pleasant Living" down on the lower Rappahannock— almost to the Bay. Our three children come often. Our daughter has 6 month old son. We have 5 other grandchildren.

Hi! Haven't heard from any of you gals . . . Did play bridge last month with Ruth Cook Bowden, '33, Charlotte Harris White, '32,and Frances Helen Miller Smoot, '32. As most of you know Charlotte and Ruby live here, (Ruby teaches at MWC), Frances in Helen lives in Aiken, S.C. now and was visiting Ruby, her roommate while at FSTC! It was great fun reminiscing.

When you send in your annual contribution, please drop me a note with news of you and your family . . . or at least fill in the usual questionnaire so I'll have some news.

In 1977, we will have our 45th anniversary. Let's start getting our class together because in 1982 we will have our fiftieth. Maybe by the next issue I will be asking you to help me find some of our lost classmates. (That is, those lost as far as the Alumni Office records are concerned.— Meanwhile if any of you know of any class member who is not on the Alumni mailing list, please notify me or the Alumni Office.

Will enter the local hospital this coming Sunday for observation and may have an operation, if my doctor thinks he can help the situation.

Hope you all are well and continue to be.

Perhaps Marion will be able to arrange her vacation in Europe at a time other than during reunion time. We would like to see her along with all the other class members. How about it, Marion?

Eleanor Warfield Van Train— 5211 Patrick Street, Bellaire, Texas 77401. Eleanor plans to retire after working for some years for Atlantic-Richfield in Houston. Her chief interest is in the Farm & Ranch Club Livestock & Rodeo Organization. Note: Eleanor, if you make your proposed trip east, why not visit MWC?

Nellie Bryant White— 1100 William Street, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401. Nellie retired after teaching 35 years. Her daughter, Carolyn, is married to a Baptist Minister and lives in Roanoke Rapids, N.C. Grandson, Brian, gives her real joy.

Your class agent,

Since several have asked in your letters about what I have been doing, etc., here goes: After MWC attended Graduate School of Education of New York University; Teachers College of Columbia University, war-time courses at Newark College of Engineering and Stevens Institute. I taught in various school systems, but mainly in the Commercial Departments of the Newark, N.J. school system. I also enjoyed working for the Essex Co. N.J. Recreation Department and the N.J. and U.S. Employment Services as an employment interviewer and in other positions. Finally, I married a Texan in Denver, Colo. Galveston, Seattle, and East Orange, N.J. One of my more rewarding positions was Secretary to the Reg. Economist of the Federal Public Housing Agency-Pacific NW, and Alaska office. Children: Steven: married, one son-17 months, Barrington, R.I., Lehigh University, B.S. Mechanical Engineering, M.B.A. candidate at George Washington University. Richard: Tufts University, B.S., Civil Engineering, University of California at Berkeley, M.A. Architecture, Ph.D. Architectural History, part-time teacher Graduate School of Architecture. Elinor: University of Vermont, pre-med student.

Note to classmates: January 10, 1975 is the next final date for material to be in the Alumni Office for printing. Let's hear from you. In the meantime, "have a happy....."

Ethel Nelson Wetmore

Hampton, Virginia 23361

Dear Classmates:

As usual, I am indebted to Bill Wheeler McCallum for most of the news I have. She and her sister, Clara Boyd Wheeler, '31, saw Louise Jennings Creamer in Millbrae, California, in June, Louise's three children are married and living in California. She teaches at a continuation school for dropouts. After returning from high school, Clara left for Greece. She also visited on an island in the Aegean between Greece and Turkey. Ann McCallum Freers, '64, received her PhD degree in education from the University of California in Berkeley.

Thelma Evans Douthat's daughter graduated from high school in June. They live in Greebush, Virginia.

We are glad that Susie Dickinson Hudson has recovered from surgery she had this past spring.

Ruby Lee Norris Norris and her husband are going to England when the new Archbishop of Canterbury is installed.

In July, Page Whitehead Hladky and her husband attended the wedding of their son, Stephen Hladky, and Miss Hilary Wolton in the Methodist Church in Enfield, Middlesex, England. Stephen will be teaching at Cambridge University.

Dorothy McGuire Bunch's daughter, Susan, will be a student at Old Dominion University, and her son, Bill, will be taking graduate work there.

Marjorie Dement Britton's mother is out of the hospital following surgery. We hope she is feeling much better. Marjorie's husband works for the State Highway Commission, and his name is listed on the Official state highway map.

I received a card saying Eleanor Thomas Harms has died. We extend our sympathy to her family.

Frances Sherman Spencer, '37, whose address is Route 1, Monroe City, Missouri, 63456, wrote that she would be glad to see any of us who should cross the country near Northeast Missouri. She and her husband live on a farm 30 miles west of Hannibal, and 150 miles north of St. Louis. She ended her letter: "Just wanted you to know that someone other than your classmates enjoy your efforts, and as Mrs. Bushnell would say— appreciatively, Frances." I appreciate hearing from you, too.

Sad news: Louise Otley Graves , '38, died of cancer on July 19. I will always remember her cheerfulness, her willingness to help others, and her fine Christian character shown in so many ways. Louise had written me in June to congratulate my son on graduating from high school, and also asked a friend of hers to write me about her operation. Let me say that the world is a better place for Louise having lived here.

With love to all of you,
Ethel

Marion Timberlake Yobs
9201 Lyndonway Drive
Richmond, Virginia 23229

Here is some good news — Virginia Anderson Jackson has been located. Her address is: 2911 Grace Street, Columbia, S.C. She would like to hear from all of her old friends. Virginia wrote a newsy letter about her family. Her oldest son, Kenneth is an Air Force Captain. Her second Wayne is studying for his masters in Physical Therapy at the University of Maryland and her daughter Linda, is at home in Columbia. Virginia is the Administrative Assistant for the Director of Home Health Services

Division for the South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control.

A letter from Louise Harris Massey arrived in July with news of a gala weekend at her home with several old grads getting together for the first time in thirty-five years. The group included Myrtis Hall O'Sullivan, Mary Helmbeck Townsend, Doni Stagg Pruden, Elizabeth Alexander Howdershell and Victoria Harris Massie.

Louise also wrote that Sally Voris, daughter of Helen Pressley Voris '38, visited her daughter and attended the Harris reunion on Lake Anns.

Nancy Herr Fallen of 4130 Walmsley Blvd., Richmond, Va. 23234, made the headlines in the Richmond Times Dispatch on June 27th. Nancy has her doctorate from the University of Maryland in special education and human development, and she is a member of the Virginia Commonwealth University special education faculty. Dr. Fallen is making outstanding contributions in her "super market" of services for young handicapped children in the Richmond area.

The next news letter will be published after Christmas. Please send a resume of your activities and those of your family during the holidays.

Our class will celebrate its thirty-fifth homecoming – wouldn't it be super to have the greater part of our class back! Suggestions for extra activities that weekend would be welcome. So get in touch with one or more of your classmates and plan to come – we do have a tendency to come if we know others close to us will be there.

I have had correspondence with Mary Lou Wilcox Dull, Vicki Harris Massie, Joel Winston, and Roselle Tuck Davidson who is in easy calling range.

Last November while helping a daughter in Raleigh with her new baby, I talked with Eleanor Small Overton. I hope to visit her the next time I am there.

In June I went to Jane Major's reception for Dr. Simpson. It was very nice. He asked to be remembered if I saw Miss Jane B. Hamilton.

Vicki Harris Massie writes that she was back at homecoming this year. She saw Jane Hatcher Major and Peggy Austin Holmes there. Vicki is still librarian for the elementary schools in Louisa. Her son is helping with business on the farm, and her daughter is a junior in high school.

Git Reel Winston writes occasionally – she has a daughter in Richmond.

Boo Voyage to Rosella Tuck Davidson who is going to London with a MWC sponsored tour in October.

I would like to have some news from everyone in the Class of '40. Everyone has something exciting happening sometime – if your exciting event has passed or has yet to come write anyway.

Get communicative and on second thought I have two new grandchildren to brag about!! This makes four granddaughters and two grandsons to add to the population.

There is a new mailing address for the hot letters that should come rolling in soon:

2301 Mt. Hermon Road
Moseley, Va. 23120

Sincerely yours,
Maxine

Frances Wills Stevens

Raleigh, N. C. 27609

I hope all of you had a great summer and vacation time. The highlight of mine was an overnight visit from Peg Moran and Dick Logan from Garden Grove, Cal. One of their sons is at the Air Force Academy and was six weeks at Fort Monroe for training. Peg and Dick visited Peg's father in Warren, O., her brother on Cape Cod and several friends along the east coast. In Hampton, they had a cook-out and great visit with Ruth Miller Gould and family. She tried to reach others by phone and you weren't home.

After crossing North Carolina and the Smokies, they spent an hour with *Lois Haines*McHaffie. She is outside of Memphis, a senior counselor at an inner city high school. She loves her work, but doesn't feel she has enough time for counseling problems.

Peg sent an address for Joan Shafer Sonitz – 18345 Parish Drive, Brookfield, Wis. 53005. Many have asked about Joanie and I had no answer. Joan and Peg were in the same high school in Warren and the address came from a reunion. Peg also visited with Ruby Spicer Davis in Portsmouth and found that her husband has recently published a book, "The Great Dismal Swamp." Good luck on its sale!

I talked on the phone with Carolyn Pittman Day. She and her family have moved to Wilmington, N.C.; her husband is an engineer with the Department of Transportation in N.C. They don't feel quite at home yet.

Ruth Ferguson McClung called me when in Raleigh for a wedding. Ruth, husband and family have moved to Norfolk. Their daughter has just received her masters in administration from the University of Wisconsin; the Fergies's address is: 6826 Fordwick Drive. Her husband is a Methodist preacher. Peninsula Chapter– do welcome her warmly!

Once again I'm pleased to say I'm teaching the daughter of an MWC alumni, Mary Dowell Simpson, '45.

Death has taken another of our group. Suzy Decker Sugg, Norfolk native, passed away June 11 of a heart attack at her home in Greenville, N.C. Suzy and Si were great supporters of MWC and this class. They attended Homecoming Reunions and also on many "off" years. They were ardent supporters of me and my work and the Raleigh Chapter. They helped in numerous ways. Our heartfelt sympathy goes to Si. I visited with him several days after this happened, and his request was "to keep my associated memberships in the Class of '43 and the Raleigh Chapter." She is survived by Si and a sister, Mrs. Ellis of Norfolk.

Other sad news, Jean Boyle Owen's father, Wallace W. Boyle, died September 14. Our sympathies.

At the 30th Homecoming Reunion, "Coxie" Elizabeth Cox Lea turned over the role of Class Agent to the two of us. A hearty "thank you" for all the work and time that you spent for us, "Coxie". It was so good to see so many of the girls in the Class of '44– we had about 30 returning and everyone of us had a marvelous time.

It is hard to know where to begin in trying to tell you about everyone else. The portrait of Mrs. Bushnell (our class gift to the school) is hanging in the Alumni House at MWC. So whenever you are in the vicinity, drop by and see your gift. Also, I might suggest that those of you who were not at the Reunion, write the MWC Alumni Association and get a Thirtieth Anniversary Reunion Booklet for only $1.00. We still have some girls missing– so when you go over the Booklet and know an address on someone is missing, please send it directly to us, so that we can get them on the mailing list.

Wav Granger Vaulis writes "What a great time we had at our 30th reunion– my first but hopefully not my last! We laughed right through the weekend– from Friday night's party in Nancy's room trying to recognize each other, to Tommy's "streak" late Saturday. I still live in Springfield, Pa., and, Jim, he lives in Boston with his wife and our two beautiful grandchildren. Midge, our youngest, is in special education at Millersville."

Virginia Sherlock Kelley lives at 7 Clark Street, Niantic, Conn. 06357. She had planned to make the reunion, but had to make a trip to Oklahoma to see their daughter Laurie and husband, who are expecting their first child. She plans to make the next reunion. Call if you are ever in the area.

Marilynn Price Heady lives at 608 South Road, Poughkeepsie, N.Y. 12601. Her husband Lee works at IBM in Field Engineering. Marilynn works as a Recreation Specialist with IBM at their Country Club. She heads a pre-kindergarten play group (60 children per day) in winter and a play-day camp for 6-13 year olds in summer with 200 children per day– 2,000 per summer. She is quite active– belongs to Methodist Church, Eastern Star (past Matron), on the Board of Visitors of Hudson River State Hospital, and is currently serving as Secretary of the State Association of Boards of Visitors of the Mental Hygiene Institutions of New York State. She is always busy but has time for sewing, gardening, craftwork, and grandchildren. She said to please give her a call if we are nearby, or stop at the IBM Country Club on Route 9, Poughkeepsie and ask for her– she'd love to see you. She also wrote that we had a most wonderful Reunion and she is looking forward to the 35th in 1979.

Nancy Growatt Tucker was back for Homecoming also. She looked good, and she said the reunion was great.

Sophia Obuhanych Hess lives at 6231 Hillsfield, N.E., Rockford, Michigan 49341. Her husband Tom is a graduate of the University of Michigan Dental School. He is retired from the Army and is now working part-time as a dentist at the V.A. Hospital in Grand Rapids. Sophia is working part-time as a consultant dietitian at a Methodist retirement home in Grand Rapids. She writes that "it was great at the reunion seeing so many from the Class of '44– a great group."

Betty Taylor Cormack has three children. The oldest, Holly, graduated from college at U. Tenn. as a manual arts therapist. The second, Chuck, is a Junior at Mercer in Macon, Ga. and the youngest is graduating from high school and plans on going to VPI and major in physics. Her husband is an electronics engineer with the Navy. She keeps busy with a ceramics shop in the basement and five classes a week and a house to keep.

Jean Ade Mogavero lives in Dumont, N.Y. Her husband is a building manager for NYPL at Lincoln Center in NYC. They have two girls– ages 19 and 16. The oldest, Nancy, is a student at Bergen Community College studying data processing, and the youngest, Susan, is a junior in high school. She wants to be a medical secretary. They also have one dog– Daisy– who rules the house.

Elizabeth Cumby Murray lives on Nantucket Island, Mass. Her husband of 29 years is self-employed in the clothing business. He owns a shop which sells men's and women's clothing. They have three children– Patricia (Trish) is 25 and married to a Frenchman, Trish and her husband are expecting in August– Elizabeth's first grandchild. Another daughter, Diana, 21, was to have been married in June and their son, John, 18, graduated from high school in June. Sounds to me like Elizabeth had a busy summer. She loves bridge, bowling, and tennis.

Monika Dahl Scott said that she spent the last five years waiting for this reunion and it was everything all expectations. Her husband Jim is an Assistant News Editor of The Tulsa Tribune– where they met and she says he is a Monica's No. 1 man. Bart Gould, has his doctorate and is minister of 2nd Unitarian Church in Chicago. He is married and still have one son– Monica's only grandchild. Her No. 2 son, Steve Gould, is an applied music major at the University of Tulsa. Tom No. 3, Tony Gould, is a pre-law student at the University Louisiana, No. 1 and only daughter, Anita, has brown eyes, red hair, and is a beautiful person. I might add that Monika is now Editor of the SEIS News– Seismograph Service Corporation. In fact, when she left Fredericburg, she was on her way north to do a logging story before returning to Tulsa.

Virginia Bowles Butler and Helen Hawley Turner writes: "The Class of '44 is lucky to have Jean DeShazo Flemer and Christine Vassar Farrar accept the job as class agents for the next five years. Our class had the largest number registered to attend Homecoming in '74 and knowing these two, we're sure this will be the case in '79. Make plans now to be here. "Coxie" has done a great job of keeping us in touch and lining things up for reunions. Even though we 'can't go home again,' renewing old college friendships has enriched us greatly over the years– and makes this ... Emmy Lou Kilby reflects on Homecoming: "Renewing friendships at our 30th was one of the highlights of this year for me. It was hilarious trying to recognize people. But once we got the name and face associated and checked with the Battlefield, it was surprising how little we have changed. Hair style, a few pounds here and there– but oh, well. For me, it's been living back in Virginia, living in Annandale and teaching at George Mason University, Fairfax, I look forward to keeping in touch with Mary Hunt Hall's friends."

Joyce Hovey Madigan met Bobbie Kingston, "Wow" Granger and Jane Thomas in Washington and rented a car to come to Homecoming. Joyce is living in Houlton, Maine, and has three children. Jane is 27, married, and teaching high school English in Newport, Rhode Island. Her son, Kip, is an Ensign in the Navy; and, Barbara, 21, is in her 3rd year at the U. of Maine. Her husband, Jim, of thirty years is with New England Telephone and Telegraph. Joyce is doing Social Work with the Maine Department of Health and Welfare. She hopes to retire in 1978 with 15 years of service. She enjoyed every minute of her first trip back to MWC in thirty years.

Nettie Lawson lives at 301 Cedar Lane, Rockville, Maryland. Her husband Tom works for the Federal Government. They have three children. Nettie, 24, is doing graduate work at Ohio State U. This is his 5th year toward his doctorate and his major is Psychology. Beth is 21 and graduated from Lynchburg College in Virginia and hopes to teach 1st grade. Tom is 18 and is a freshman at Montgomery Community College. Nettie enjoys outside activities especially gardening. She also enjoys crocheting and knitting. She writes "This has been a fabulous weekend and just loads of fun. Only wish everyone could have been here. The Class of '44 is still the "greatest."

Scrapbook.

It was just so wonderful seeing so many of you back to Reunion. We all had a great time, and we are looking forward to our 35th. Plan now to be there and join in all the fun! Keep in touch with one of us and let us know what you are doing.

Dear 49ers,

I have enjoyed reading the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Reunion Booklet, Class of 1949, recently. Please let me thank Jean Hoyter Helton and Lucretia Vance Gilmer for helping with the compilation of our class booklet. It was a herculean task, and I'm sorry that I'm belated with a word of thanks to you. I did not know until I had a letter recently from "Miami" Anne McCaskill Libis who had done this gargantuan chore.

Lucretia wrote that the energy crisis kept her from the reunion but that she and her husband had the opportunity to make the Methodist Tour of England in early spring via public transportation.

The Richmond Chapter of MWC Alumni had a reception on Sunday, May 19th, honoring the now-retired President and Mrs. G. Simpson. It was a very special occasion and the Simpsons were charming, as always.

"Miami" Anne McCaskill Libis' daughter, Claudia, is attending Gettysburg College this year. Before she left, the Libis Family had a lovely vacation near the Smokey Mountain National Park.

Frances McGlothlin Berkey had a delectable luncheon on May 18th and invited Dorothy "Dottie" Motheny Blake and me. I shared with them our glorious reunion weekend, and they both hope to attend our next Homecoming. "Frankie's" husband, Cecil, went on an overnight Girl Scout Camping trip with their two daughters. So, I spent that night with "Frankie."

I had a delightful letter from Marion "Wendy" Seffe Williford this summer. Her handwriting is almost as illegible as mine. So, I couldn't decipher the names of her children. Her oldest is a boy who's a sophomore at the University of South Carolina. Her daughter goes to VPI as a freshman this fall. Her youngest boy is 15 and is a pretty good baseball player. Wendy has recently sold her house and has bought a townhouse in Springfield, Va., and works full time now as a secretarial assistant to the Military Operations Research Society. She helps run two symposiums that the Society has each year which requires some traveling on her part.

Jean Abenschein Vass and family had two enjoyable weeks at the outerbanks of North Carolina this summer. Her daughter Marla spent some time in Trinidad recently. Her other daughter, Tama, is at MWC this year. They are both charming girls and were so warm and hospitable to me and to my little girls, Dawn and Denise, when we all three spent the night with the Vass Family this spring.

Hilda Jones Blakemore's son, Bobby, is very interested in running and is quite adept at this sport. Her younger son, Dickie, is gifted in the field of music. I enjoyed getting reacquainted with the Blakemores this spring when it was a guest in their lovely Springfield, Virginia home.

"Betsy" Gilmer Coyner's son, Martin, is going to Madison College this year. Her other children Meredith, Ruth and Thomas are putting on a play with a cast of 18 on the Coyner's front yard this October in Williamsburg.

Mary Elwong Shannon's daughter, Joanne, was married on the Seventh of September. It was a lovely wedding. Jeanne Farrington Leslie and her husband attended. My husband and I did, too. It's so good to be with old friends. Jeanne Shannon was named after Jeanne Farrington Leslie.

Jeanne Farrington Leslie's daughter Laurie is going to Wheaton College in Illinois. This is the same Christian college that Billy Graham attended. Laurie's older sisters, Robin and Susan also attended institutions of higher learning.

Shirley Brandow Nixon, '49, lives in Bowie, Maryland, and accepted a position as organist at a Catholic church in Bowie. She has four children, three sons and one daughter.

If any of you have any news that you'd like to share with the rest of the 49ers via the Class Agent Letter, please get in touch with me. Please either type or print your news items, though, so that I can read it and report it correctly.

Not much news from you for this issue— guess I'll blame it on summer lethargy and hope for more in the future.

I'll take this opportunity to remind you again that our big 25th reunion is coming in April '75— the 11th and 12th, to be exact. Start making your plans now and try to get a group together so we'll have a big crowd to reminisce with! Please fill in your questionnaires for the directory and return them promptly to the Alumni Office.

I have a list of lost class members which I would like you to look over. If you know a recent address for any of these people please contact me pronto!: Maribel Sutherland Elton, Doris Watts Tortice, Barbara Gollwer Morton, Sally Ann Dowding, Alice Sampson Bonan, Mary Lyne Kucera Marrisey, Alicie Rivera, Sarah "Reet" Willock Black, Joan Brouner, Helen Border, Jane Davis Richmond, Anne Garlette Doumas, Mary Fisher Taor, Anne Guthrie Jeffords, Jean Hughes, Gaynelle Parrish, Nancy Lee Redman, and Elaine Heinz.

Garland "Dorsey" Estes McCarthy lives with her family— husband and 3 children— in Warren, N.J. "Dorsey" has just had a poem entitled "The Persimmon Tree" published in The National Anthology of Poetry. She is still teaching English in Watchung High School and the family has just bought a place on Hilton Head Island, S.C.

Again we enjoyed our Cape Cod summer with Mim Sallow Wieland and family close by for 2 weeks. Mim entered one of the local craft shows and did very well with her various calico Christmas ornaments and other wooden items.

PLEASE WRITE. And how about sending pictures for our scrapbook?

Dorothy

Met Alumna, Ann Rodabaugh Wright, '59, here in Tuscaloosa. Her husband is President of the University of Alabama Track Boosters Group. My husband belongs to the group also.

Daughter, Kim, graduated from high school in May and will attend the University of Alabama here at home. Son, Kevin, enters high school.

Kim was elected first girl President of Black Warrior Council (BSA) Explorer Post number 1 in the spring. Recently she was elected to Southeastern Region Board of Explorers representing Ala.—Miss. Explorer Posts and Councils. My how the Boy Scouts have changed, eh?? Still corresponded with Alumnae, Audrey Smith Binkley in Indiannapolis, Ind., Anne Zirpel Josephy in Texas, Betsy Fletcher Adams in Maryland, Anne Lee Ceglis of Norfolk.

Long standing ties of nearly 18 years kept us in Tuscaloosa.

Best wishes to all

Good Morning!

It doesn't seem possible that we'll be seeing each other again in '75 for our 20th reunion! I really can't believe this, but the calendar tells us this and also all the events that have happened to us over the past years. I am looking forward to seeing YOU — and hearing from you if you are unable to attend . . . so that we who attend can share your "mail visit". The reunion date will be announced shortly . . . when you hear . . . mark your calendar IMMEDIATELY ! !

Joan Piedmont Gruppe is now living in Bethesda, Maryland. Joan has several piano students and keeps herself busy with all the activities of her three children. Henry's book, The Truxton Cipher (Simon and Schuster), is off the press and has received rave reviews from several newspapers, including the New York Times. The novel centers around a shipwreck in which 200 victims lose their lives. Henry, a "weekend writer" is with the Agency of International Development. Congratulations Henry ! Alice Orem Hefner and Bob are now located in Northbrook, Ill. with their 4 children. Their daughter Kathy was selected for the DAR citizenship Award as the outstanding senior in Northbrook. Linda, Pat and Scott are all active in school, church and scouting activities and shining in all of these. Bob is director of Engineering at Brunsco. . . . Alice keeps up with all of them! ! ! After 17 years in Maryland, Eloise Reed Gabrik, John and their children are now living in Basking Ridge, N.J., where John is associated with AT & T. Their daughter, Julie takes piano and voice lessons and is active in the local summer theater . . . also on the honor roll at school. Son John is keeping up with his sister in his own areas . . . plus school. Eloise enjoys working with the Newcomers Club and is thinking about going back to teaching eventually.

Ginny Moreo Hancock wrote a long letter about our classmates who became nurses after studying at UVA. If you want to contact any of them, please write Ginny (26 Loockerman Ave., Poughkeepsie, N.Y.), as she edits their own newsletter. Ginny's husband was transferred from California to do more research for IBM. They love being closer to their families, their older home and have adjusted well to the weather changes. Thank you for the letter and news, Ginny! Mildred Corum is now Mrs. Stuart Campbell and is living in Highland Park, N.J. Our best wishes to you Mildred! ! ! Ginny said that Barbara Gill Beeman was expecting her seventh child last January . . . is that a class record?

Sally Ilanger Maravitz is very much involved in dance education. She founded and is director of the Maryl-Michael Dancers . . . and is on the Board of Directors for the Fairfax County Council of Art's Concerts. Her group presents a lecture demonstration designed to entertain as well as educate all age groups. Jane Johnson Jones is back from Heidelberg, Germany . . . now lives in Newport News, Va. While Jane, Cary and their three children lived in Germany, they traveled extensively. The highlights for Jane were a trip to Russia — Kiev, Leningrad and Moscow and one to Egypt where they slept in a tremendous tent on the Sahara and watched the sun rise on the Gizeh pyramids . . . fantastic ! ! Joan Fernall Shaw, Don and their three sons were stationed in the Outlish Barracks in Pennsylvania when he heard last Jan. he was teaching at the Army War College there. Also, (when last heard from), Barbara Haralson Jessee was living in Alexandria, Va. . . . Jess is working at the Pentagon. I'm wondering if your daughter Kathy is attending MWC now. My how time flies!

Sue Bedell Albee and Tom are now in Vienna, Va. . . . Tom is stationed in Washington now, but he ended Harvard last fall for an advanced Business Administration course . . . Sue is now selling real estate in the Vienna area . . . after her successful introduction in the Norfolk—Va. Beach area. (Sue, thank you for the postcard and info . . . I misplaced it on my recent Fla. vacation . . . could I hear again . . . address, etc. . . thanks!) Their older son is now attending VMI . . . first year. How wonderful!

Some of you may remember my sister Nancy, who was a freshman when we were seniors. Nancy lived in nearby Fairfield with her husband and two sons. Nancy passed away on June 13 after being ill for two years . . . a simple and beautiful person . . . those who knew her are richly rewarded. Thank you for your prayers.

I am still teaching second grade in Fairfield . . . and still have my two nieces and nephew living with me . . . they're 10, 9 and 7 . . . piano lessons, dancing lessons, trips to museums etc., . . . I know them all . . . in the homework area, I'm blessed— they're good students! Have a lovely autumn and if you don't hear from me beforehand . . . have the very best of all the coming family holidays ! ! ! I wish you love, strength, faith and wisdom . . . peace be with you all.

Hi Gals!

A million "thank you" thoughts are coming your way from me if you took the time to answer our pleas for news and a wish that those who have not answered your letter will do it shortly.

Guess who designed her new home in Mechanicsburg, Pa. and cares for five children and a physician husband too! Of course, none other than our own Jacquette Pedend Jackson. She also breeds great danes. They have been to Spain this summer. The two oldest children, 11 and 12½, received bronze and silver medals in Hershey figure skating club. All like to swim and are in summer camp. Frank has a desire to practice for the rehabilitation of cardiac patients. This was discussed in the Sunday Parade section of your Sunday newspaper. Jonquite's letter was amusing, and she has the only odd hobby of the bunch of '56er's . . . hatching seven pheasant eggs!

Shirley Hose Hunter moved with her family to Germany. Shirley wrote that their daughter, Shelley, 14, attended the music festival in Dorset, England where she played the viola and violin. They plan to go to Austria for Christmas. She is planning to have Mary Ellen Fekas Wildman and Walter plus their three children during the winter holidays, and they all plan to ski and have a wonderful time together.

Barbara Anne Kowalzyk has moved from Philadelphia to Newtown Square, Pa. and girls, listen to this news! Barbara is a new BRIDE. Her husband is Price D. Heppe. They were married at St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Radnor, Pa. and had their reception at the Merion Golf Club; had a marvelous honeymoon in Bermuda and vacationed for ten weeks in Little Deer Isle, Maine. Oh yes, Barbara mentioned the fact that Mary Gale Buchanon Matthai and Barbara Donovan were matron of honor and bridesmaid. Bet all of you had a delightful time together. Barb also told me that Julia Smith Cooke and family were moving to London from California for two years. Drop as a line from London, JULIA. Barb said to tell all you gals that if you are in Maine just call and drop by. I'm thrilled for you, Barb. Keep in touch!

We are sorry to report the death of Nancy Kleinknecht Smith of 132 Adley Road, Fairfield, Conn. She leaves her husband, Richard, two sons, Jeffrey Scott and Todd Richard. She died June 13, 1974. Mary Margaret Kurty Saltes of Brookfield Center, Conn. notified me of the sad news. Thank you, Mary. Our sympathy goes to her family.

Mary, by the way, is having a wonderful time entertaining her three boys and is really enjoying her third son, Darius, who was born in January. I can hardly wait to see him.

Judy Daniels Donahue of Peabody, Mass. has five lively children whose ages run from 15 to 3. She is getting her master's degree in elementary education by going to night school. Judy's husband is a dentist and is encouraging Judy's academic endeavors. She hopes to return to teaching in two years.

We heard from another Judy today! Judy Smith Hermanson enjoys teaching, painting, weaving, and taking care of her two children and husband who is a supervisor for the gifted children. He works for the San Diego City Schools. They recently went to Hong Kong and to Thailand.

Dorcas Ann Hickox Channel and family moved from Washington, D.C. to Ford Island, Honolulu, Hawaii where Dorcas Ann's husband is a commander in the navy. They drove across the U.S. and camped in some of the National Parks along the way. Hope your trip was a safe one as well as a happy one, Dorcas Ann.

Mickey Foley McDaniel is also moving! Tim will be working for the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in Atlanta, Georgia. Mickey says the family are excited about having a new home although they will miss Arizona and their friends there. All you gals in the Atlanta area try to make life happier for Mickey! She can be reached at 5564 Woodbury Circle, Marietta, Ga. Mary Buchanan Matthai wrote that her husband is an architect with the Inner Harbor renovations in Baltimore. They are racing their 30 foot sloop on the Chesapeake Bay. Mary serves on the Board of the Childrens' Hospital in Baltimore and is president-elect of the Women's Architectural League.

The Nuckols family is leaving tomorrow for a vacation in the North Carolina mountains so I shall continue our little get-together when I return.

Remember to keep those cards and letters rolling into the post office.

Love all of you,
Kay

Barbara Shann Greenleaf called recently. She had lunch with Beth Beckler Bodnar and Marie Claudiis Ellig this summer. Beth and John have two girls, ages 6 and 3. Marie has a five year old son. From their chatting it seems Libby Foster Beardsell has moved to Buffalo, though I don't have her address. Cynthia Hapke Biogiotti spends her summers at their summer home in New Hampshire. Cynthia Nissley Potts is still in San Francisco.

Joan Pillsbury Rutherford, Barbara said she tried to call you!

Sad news has touched our class. I regret to tell you that Nancy Kleinknecht Smith passed away after a lengthy illness on June 13, 1974. She leaves her husband, Rich, and two sons, Jeffrey and Todd. I sent her family a card on behalf of our class.

A note from MWC informs me that Shirley Carter has moved– no new address. If anyone has it, please send it to me at MWC.

Please let me hear from you.

Bye for now,
Jean Lee

The most important news first! On May 2nd at 5:55 p.m. Virginia Alexis Trudeau arrived. She is beautiful! She has dark hair and blue eyes. Tom and I are about to burst with love and joy and pride! We extend our invitation again to visit us in the Deep South and see our little girl. Now that's good reason!

And . . . You are all very spoiling. The flowers were just lovely; the first I received. Then to top that, the attractive gold frame for Virginia's first picture arrived soon after. And then . . . thank you, thank you for electing me as class agent again. It is not a job but an experience I love.

Thanks to Carol Perkins Gill for conducting all business and to Joan Estick Eckeson for writing and directing our class' entertainment.

One reminder– in five years it will be reunion booklet time again. When the Office sends you the biographical form, please try to complete and return it. It aids the Office in keeping their files up to date and yours truly. And it is an excellent way to receive a thumbnail sketch of everyone!

Carmen Culpepper Davis spell wrote from Frankfort, Germany. She is accompanying John on a business trip in Europe this summer. They were on their way a week in Paris. Judy Springer was revisiting England and planning to see Wales and Scotland, too. Audrey Dubetzky Rosen's family are back in the U.S. Had just visited Disney World, Annapolis and the Naval Academy, and were on their way to New Jersey and Grandmother.

Sally Steinmetz is teaching physical education to five year olds with learning problems and teaching dance courses this summer.

Catherine Dishman Crandall and her family are on the way to Heidelburg for awhile. She said she attended a dinner party in November at the Hruby's. Vicky Rogers Dumont wrote– so good to hear from her. She and her family are just fine. She has two sons, and they are keeping her busy! Imogen Daniel Cummins is expecting her first child at the end of May! She moved into a new home last May and has been working for the U.S. Postal Service. Her husband, Melvin is employed by Howard Johnson's. Jane Tucker Broadbooks wrote that John continues to be very busy landscaping parks for the S.C. Park Service. In between housewifing, etc., Jane has found a little time to do some subbing. Jeanne Donahoe Clapp is very eager to contact Mary Jo Perry and Betty Burley.

Beulah V. Springer has bought a three bedroom townhouse in Centreville. She is still teaching six and seven year olds at Hunters Woods Elementary School in Reston, B.V. is Vice President of Delta Kappa, serves as a "Pink Lady" at Fairfax Hospital and is working on some teaching aids to sell to an educationalpublisher. B.V. bumped into Barbara Moore Burnett, who left in her junior year and now lives in Herndon. Ann Brooks Papdatos said that Eula Gray Kindley was married in July to John Morton and they are living in Vienna. Eula has his doctors in economics from Duke and is employed by an economic consulting firm in D.C. Ann is busy with the children, involvement with Scouts, etc. and completing her course work to renew her teaching certificate.

Get ready for the 20th reunion!

Love,
Edna

There is not much to report to you as I have not received any news from . . YOU. I will be sending a letter to all our classmates with known addresses in the near future.

Instead of going back to the states for our home leave this year, our family spent a very educational and fun vacation in the Philippine Islands, Hong Kong and Bangkok in July. It was a most interesting contrast of cultures, peoples, and customs. We loved every minute and would like to go back some day. Let us hear from you about your family, job, vacation, or new project.

Constance Booth Logothetis

Louisville, Kentucky 40222

This deadline really crept up on me, coming at the beginning of the school year for both my children, Elaine to first grade and Michael to nursery school. It seems at the end of a most enjoyable, family oriented summer for us, which started with our trip to Greece in late May and June. My mother joined us there, and it was the first meeting of Andy's mother and mine– what fun! We feel fortunate in the timing of our trip, as the situation there now seems less friendly toward Americans. In July and early August my sister Linkey Booth Willcim, '63, and her two children came to visit us from California!' We managed to put many miles on the car touring this beautiful state and the cousins enjoyed their reunion. Later in August we had the exciting news that my brother Bob and wife Pat will live here so that he can attend the University of Louisville Law School, after nearly four years in the Army.

Gail Rilling Stockton wrote that in July they moved into a new house in Chester, N.J. (Box 315, 07930), where John is working for Edwards and Kelsey (engineers and planners) in Newark. Gail has three boys, David 7, Barry 5, and Charles 3. While Gail was living in Potomac, Md., she ran into Mary LeBlone Ingle who had been living in Alexandria, Va. and is now in California (where?). Mary and Gail made a trip to East Long Meadow, Mass. to visit Julie Finn Wiszbicki and husband who bought a fabulous old house there. They were joined on the visit by Ann Bode Sweeney and family. Sounds like a great mini-reunion!

Andy and I had the great pleasure of visiting with Dee Doran Cairns, Doug, and children Cathy 12 and Rob 9, who came through here on route from Mozambique, Africa to Europe and on and on to their ultimate destination . . . the Philippines! Their port call was August 16th, and the whole family was looking forward to their two year tour at Clark A.F.B. Dee looked as pretty as ever.

Betsy Wright Coxe wrote a follow-up to her year at Goucher– she's going to make Phi Beta Kappa if she's not careful! Fantastic grades, Betsy! She received the scholarship she applied for and will be a full time student this year. In addition to her American Studies courses, she is taking alot of music, which has revived a long dormant interest. She's taking full advantage of all the music the City of Baltimore offers.

As I mentioned in the June issue, Clara Sue Durden Ashley was due to have another baby . . . Andrew Wade arrived on July 8, to join brothers Chris 9, Park 7½, and Dennis 5½! She says her boys keep her hopping all the time, but she has found time to be active in the MWC Alumni chapter near home in McLean, Va.

Janie Riles Wamsley and family are not living in Paris, France, but are still in Lyon (10 Rue Crequi, 69 Lyon, France). They are thoroughly enjoying life in France and both girls speak fluent French. They spendalot of time skiing in the Alps, travelling to other parts of Europe, entertaining family and friends from the U.S. (hope we'll be in that category soon dayl), and . . Janie thinks she spends 75% of her time thinking about, marketing for, and preparing food, which she says everyone there does!

Please send in news– there are many of you from whom we have not heard lately. My next deadline is January 10, 1975.

Bye for now,
Connie

Prior to this appointment Marion served as assistant librarian at Reynolds Metals Co. and received her MLS from the University of North Carolina in 1971. Congratulations Marion. Also, the Alumni Office sent news that Marilyn Madugro Smith and husband Carroll became new parents of Carroll Alexander, born in September. Alex has two older sisters, Susan, age 9, and Ann Robyn, age 7. Marilyn's husband, Carroll, practices law in Fredericksburg.

Since this column is a bit scarce of news– thought I would keep you posted on the happenings in Hampton.

Last spring the four children and I accompanied Bob to Europe on his business trip. We spent five days in Scotland touring old castles and riding through the picturesque countryside. Then the Taylors' treked from Edinburgh to London, and toured the city for five days.

The children, who are now 10, 9, 7 and 3 did very well. The 3 year old kept up with everybody– I just made the mistake of taking him into the wax museum and their "Chamber of Horrors"– right after the Marie Antoinette guillotine scene we made a hasty exit.

From there we spent three days in Paris– which was certainly not enough, but a quick opportunity to see the museums, cathedrals, and monuments. The traveling was rather hectic especially keeping up with the little Taylors and suitcases, but we really enjoyed the trip.

Will be checking the mailbox for your letters– especially those nice notes on Christmas cards– that time will be soon upon us.

This is a good time for me to encourage more of you to write a postcard or brief note, and let us all know what you are doing. Got the hint? I expect to hear from lots of you before my next deadline on January 10th.

Could not believe it when I received a nice long letter from Matilda 'Mandy' Pickrey Krommiga who left MWC after sophomore year for marriage. Mandy graduated in June, magna cum laude from the University of Maryland, Baltimore County and is now in the masters program at George Washington University, studying health care administration. Her husband Lynn has been with the Maryland State's Attorneys Office until last year when he went into private practice as a lawyer. They have two children, April, 7, and Bruce, 3. The Krommingas are still living in Linthicum, Md. in case any of you are in that area. Thanks for writing, Mandy– it was great to hear from you after such a long time!

Karen Vandevanter Chapman wrote me from northern Vermont while on vacation, and she continues to keep busy with Junior League, tennis and her children. She and Kurt and family were to spend a week in Nantucket with Carol VanNess Clapp and Dick this summer, and they were all looking forward to getting together again.

My only other news of classmates comes from my own vacation to visit my sister, Connie, in Louisville, Ky. this summer. While there I called Rachael Newbill Yungman who also lives in Louisville. She and Tom have one daughter, Julie, 5, and were expecting a second child in September. Rachael has given up teaching and loves her time at home with Julie and her garden! Tom is a psychologist with the Veterans Association. Rachael said she keeps in touch with Jewel West Norman but had not heard from her for some time. Also while in Kentucky, I called Murray Roberts Graff, '65, who is living at Ft. Knox, Ky. while Art finishes up his tour with the Army.

Our vacation with Connie was really fantastic, and we did lots of sightseeing all over the eastern portion of Kentucky. It was difficult to get into the groove of work, etc., after vacation but within a week I was deeply involved in Junior Woman's Club activities, swimming lessons for the kids, etc. Please do try to write a note before next issue!

Bill and Betsy Chamberlain Gartz had another little girl, Courtney Witt born last November. They have two little girls now and are still in Richmond. Tom and Sue Ramey Green are the proud parents of a son Rusty whom they adopted last October. Sue also wrote that Harry and Carol Boss Nash and family had moved to 05602 Madison Street in Winfield, Ill. Harry is in charge of the claims central office for Travelers Insurance Co. in nearby Wheaton, about 25 miles west of Chicago.

Last spring Dick and Ginny Byles Foreman wrote that they also had a new family member, Andy, born the previous September. They now have two little boys and are living at March Air Force Base in Riverside. She writes they love the change to so much activity after 2½ years in the Ozark Mountains! Dick is with the Cartographic Technical Squadron.

Mary Page Burden Cosby sent me loads of MWC info (thanks!) right after she and Alton and family moved last spring to New Castle, Va. Alton is Superintendent of Schools in Craig County, Va. Their family has increased, too, with the adoption of little Amy, a baby sister for Mike.

Karen Vondevanter Chapman also sent me lots of helpful hints about MWC, although she is now involved with the League of Women Voters. Karen is currently campaigning to educate more people about sensible approaches to urban problems and ecology. I really enjoyed her letter– it was characteristically Karen.

Betsy Ross Johnson Gould has also moved– to 71 Highspire Road,

FROM OUR PHOTO FILES: Do You Remember . . .

Richboro, Bucks County, Pennsylvania 18954. Don is marketing Director for Hillenbrand Industries, Batesville Casket Company in the Philadelphia area. Betsy Ross writes that their 2 boys, Donnie and David are now 8 and 5 years old and that she would love to hear from any of you in that area.

Nancy Richardson Ferenbaugh writes that her husband Roger received his PhD in botany and ecology this June from the University of Montana. They are now in Flagstaff, Arizona, where he is an assistant professor. They have three children— Charles, 7½, Billy, 4, and Joy, 2. Nancy also works in a cooperative nursery school. She is trying to locate Sheila Holt Webb. If any of you know of Sheila's whereabouts, write to Nancy at 711 W. Whiting Road, Flagstaff, Arizona 86001.

I'm so glad you are sending more news these days. It's so nice to see how far away everyone has gone, how their families are growing, and what everyone is doing these days.

As for the Marshalls, we are still here in Wilson, where Tom is Assistant Professor of Art at Atlantic Christian College. All of our children are in school now— Cathy, 4th grade, Michael, 3rd, Patrick, 2nd, and Bobby, kindergarten which is public school and lasts all day. Time really flies, doesn't it? I'm teaching math and one class of history (!) at the junior high school, too.

Send me your news now for the next issue!

If I had fears about the capacity of my mailbox to accommodate the deluge of news coming in from my classmates, I was wrong. However, I attribute the lack of mail to a misprint in the last issue, which reversed two numbers in my street address. Now, to confuse matters further, I am planning to move within the next few months. Harvey and I are in the midst of contracting for a co-op, but until our plans are finalized, I can't use that address. Thus, I have given my business address above, to be used on a temporary basis until I know where I am living. One letter, sent via the Alumni Office, did reach me, Bonnie ("Be") Davison Herrera writes that "memories of MWC are alive and well in San Francisco." Her life in that beautiful city includes husband Jack, who works for the Government and spends his free time with music, and a first-grade daughter who dances with the Children's Ballet Theatre and sings in a choir. Be describes herself as a "contented homemaker who handles consulting assignments on the side— this year with a program for Western Shoshonne Indians and an aging program in S.F."

I am rushing to beat this deadline— I haven't changed a bit. But I do hope for more news next time. I heard at reunion that Ann McCallum Freers is in Californiabut didn't get the details. And Sue Chennell Lapham— how can I be expected to write Class News if my own roommate doesn't write to me?

Linda Reading Pullen

Scott and Susan Turner Weaver and son, Scotty, traveled East to Pa. this summer with friends and introduced those native Californians to our coast.

Harry and Susan Armistead Evangeliou just sent a postcard from Patras, Greece stating that they had finally arrived there after much debate about whether they should go with all the trouble on Cyprus. I'm assuming that they took their sons, George and Nicholas, on this trip to visit Harry's mother.

After fourteen moves in ten years, we have finally settled in Richmond and have lived at this address nearly a year— a real record for us! Pete is in management consultant for Ernst & Ernst, a public accounting firm, specializing in data processing and computerization.

I have been director of public affairs for The Richmond Symphony since January of this year. With my work and family responsibilities, I stay extremely busy but find time for occasional traveling (to the Kennedy Center in Washington and Metropolitan Opera in New York this year) and some bridge.

My roommate at MWC, Sandra Clay Copler, moved to 4646A Taylor Place, Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho 83648 this winter. I know she'd love to hear from her college friends— as I would.

The Sturms have an extra bedroom and would always welcome an MWC guest!

Hi!

Sorry I missed the last issue, but things have been quite hectic around here. Dick is now working at a trade association in the District as there are no college teaching jobs available. Lisa just started first grade at Paint Branch Elementary School in College Park and Sarah is almost one.

On a recent trip to Norfolk I visited with Mary Lou Skeeter McDaniel and two year old David. Mary Lou is planning to teach part-time when school starts.

Carolyn Kennett Barry is still teaching math in a private school in Norfolk. She is also involved in many civic and social activities. Her oldest, Michelle, will be 8 in February and Christopher was 6 in August.

Margaret Mahon Whitehead and husband Tom own a home in Georgetown in the District but will be moving to Cambridge, Mass., in the fall where Tom will be a college lecturer for a year.

Abby Donald Tiller is teaching art in a middle school near Waterford, Va. David, almost 6, is now in first grade and Ann Catherine, almost four, goes to Montessori school.

Marylee Holt Hair is still employed as Administrative Assistant at the Federal Reserve Board. Her husband is Assistant Vice President at First Virginia Bank in Arlington. They also have a soe, Brian Robert, born August 26, 1973.

Mary Alyce (Lisa) Johnson Roberts is living in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. She has a new daughter, Kathleen Ausley, born April 9, 1974. She writes: "Clifford and I have been in Malaysia for 18 months now and have enjoyed living in another part of the world. Malaysia is quite a growing and progressive country. It has three distinct cultures: Mali , Indian and Chinese, making the food, dress and religious festivals quite diverse and interesting. Clifford is a veterinarian in the Army engaged in medical research. There's a small unit here at the Institute for Medical Research working on malaria and scrub typhus. Before coming here we spent four great years in San Francisco. We will probably be leaving here around the end of '74."

Lisa also had news of the following:

Roky Hudson married Robert B. Fox September 22, 1973. They visited with the Roberts on their honeymoon. Jackie Ward Fulcher, husband Claude and daughter Lisa are living in Chesapeake and working on finishing their beach house. Jackie is currently working full-time.

Lynn Bard Jablonsky, husband Bon and children David and Mary Susan are still in Bridgeport, Conn. Donne Kakalec Jensen, Kris, Greg and Lana are living in Clearfield, Utah.

Rondy McDonald Peterson and husband Bob toured Europe this summer. They have one son, Robert. Judy Strawbridge Dickinson just had number 3 in July— Jacob Ray. She has recently moved to Jacksonville, N.C. Judy, send me your new address! Her other children are Heather Noelle who was three in June, and Noshua Eugene who will be two in February. Judith Anne Sutherland received her Master of Divinity from Union Theological Seminary in May.

Do write and fill me in on all your news!

Carol Arndt Fuller related that she and Dan now have two children, Nicole Anne, aged two, and David Edward, 16 months younger. Dan is Assistant Trust Officer for the town bank in Arcola, Ill., where the Fullers live in a 100-year-old house which they're enjoying redecorating. Carol would like to hear from or about Beth Von Horten Ezbier and Susan Palmer.

Nat and Zoe Ann Nottingham Ward and boys are back from their European travels, as of June, and were in their way to Law School somewhere in California when Dee Dee wrote. Please send your new address, Dee Dee.

Roger and Ryan Stewart Davis have moved again, to Klamath Falls, Ore., where Roger is a district forester. They have bought a "Big old house" which they love. The nursery in it should be occupied soon with a new little one due in October. Daughter Sacha, now three, is enrolled in Montessori school this Fall. Ryan mentioned our 10th Reunion, which she already has plans to attend. (Sure hope all of you are planning to be there also.)

Mary Crawford Wright Day has been playing tennis on a community team and filling cake orders in her spare time. Two-year-old Lynn has become a swimmer, and her little brother (or sister) is expected in February.

Our family had a fun-filled summer, swimming and water skiing. Scott is now five, and loving kindergarten, while Brett, almost three, is involved in a playgroup (along with his Mom). I am also working part-time (mostly at home) for Florida Junior College, as well as keeping another little boy every day.

Hope to hear from everyone at Christmas. Happy Holidays!

Anne Clagett left Virginia over a year ago for Vienna, Austria, and by now she should be fluent in German. Anne wants to hear from you, Kathy Fowler Flattery, and invites any tourists to look her up— Reinprechtsdorferstrasse 57/9, 1050 Wein, Osterreich.

Ron and Mary Parsons Black left here recently for Corpus Christi, Texas. Ron is in the Navy now as a hospital administrator. So all of you Navy gals look her up if you are down her way. Just think, she married a Marine who switched in mid-stream! Rumor has it that Sally Souder has in fact opened a lovely plant and fern shop somewhere in Virginia. Please let us know the exact details, Sally, and mention the location so that we can stop by. . . John and Eileen Goddard Allsbrips had their second baby— another handsome boy!

Had a very short visit with Patty Bergin Bergman and family at Christmas. It was fun to meet her two youngest after having seen them in pictures.

My apologies for not writing recently, but motherhood has kept me much busier than teaching! However, we are beginning to feel that North Jersey is really our home!

We'll be waiting to hear from you and so will everyone else.

Let me thank all those in our class who contributed to the Alumni Fund drive— both with dollars and work!

Yvonne Milgrew is teaching English at West Virginia University. Ed and Betty Skinner Chappell have moved to Roanoke for his third year of residency in orthopedic surgery. They will be back in Charlottesville next year. They have daughters Shannon, 21 next fall, and Mary, 4. Bev Hammond McCauley has a son, Jonathan Craig, 1. At last report she and Bill were going to Europe last summer with Jonathan along. Bill was to do a fellowship in pulmonary disease at University of Pennsylvania this fall. Sue Spencer Collins' husband Mike is also a doctor. He is starting his residency at the VA in D.C. and they live in Rockville, Md. Suzanne Gills Wilson lives in Milton, W. Va. She works in Huntington as an Eligibility Specialist for the Department of Welfare. Her husband, Bob, is a claims representative for the Social Security Administration and they have two daughters: Olivia Marie, 4, and Margaret Suzanne, 2.

Jan Shoop Shawen has her master's degree and is a guidance counselor in an elementary school in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Mary Bartha Nix, Cliff, and two sons also live in Chattanooga. Ave Holland and her mother are in the upholstery business in northern Va. Joan Clayton, '66, is teaching in Maryland. Judy Jackson Grabler and Leo are living in Metairie, La. (She transferred to Tulane after sophomore year.) Lynda said that she sees Carolyn Johnson Bale at the Colgate Darden MWC Alumni Chapter meetings.They have a small group but they enjoy their luncheon meetings. Lynda lives in Newark, Va. Her husband, Glenn, is working on his Ph.D. thesis and Lynda stays busy as his typist and also as mother to their children!

Nancy McDonald Legat writes that she lives in Hopewell. She and Dan have three daughters— Julie , 6, Kimberly, 2½, and Beth, 1¾. She wrote that Marion Brechle Yonce, husband, and son five in Alexandria and that she works part-time.

Craig, Kelly, and I are anticipating moving to our new home in Chesterfield County in October. Hopefully we will be settled in when this reaches you! Please send your news to my new address.

Hi!

Susan Wolfe Shults and Porter and son, Ted, are now living in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Porter has taken a job with Arthur Anderson there, and they are loving that part of the country.

Joan Hughes Furlong and Tom have moved to Foxboro, Mass. where Tom is a sales representative with Pfizer Corporation.

By the time this column goes to press, Linda Todd Pullen and Lewis will be living in Alexandria, Va. Lewis is an attorney with the Veteran Administration in Washington, D.C., having graduated from William and Mary Law School in June.

Martha Fuller Downs and Michael have been transferred to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas and will be living there for about two years.

On July 1, we welcomed a second daughter into our fold. Her name is Lindsey Paige, and she is keeping things lively in the Dilloo household.

Please let me hear from you all. I'm sure there are many of you who have been doing great things these last seven years. Drop me a line.

Love,
Susie

This has been quite an exciting summer at the Russell household. In May we adopted our second child, a little girl, Ellen Elizabeth. She was born March 13 and of course we all think she is beautiful, bald head not withstanding. Even Jonathan thinks she's pretty special, though at the age of three he doesn't especially appreciate the competition. Between children, macrame, tending plants, and AAUW, time really flies.

Sally Stratton Harrison's husband, Gene, is still teaching in Prince William County and Sally stays busy with Ward, age 3, and Emily, who will be a year old in October.

Carolyn Monti Turnbull and husband Larry are in Alexandria where Larry works for Texas Instruments. He received his PhD in geophysics from Penn State in March. Belinda Lowenhaupt married Tony Collins on August 4 of last year. She has finished her doctorate in psychology, specializing in vision. She is now working "free lance" with a firm in our area. They live in Reston, where Tony works for the Voice of America.

Eileen Curley married Frank Baker in August of '72. They are now living in Connecticut where Frank is practicing law.

Carol Thomason Pritchard and C.M. were proud to announce the birth of their first child, a boy, Christopher Scot, last November 19th. While She was pregnant, she finished all the requirements for her master's degree in guidance and counseling from William and Mary. She hopes to be a counselor this fall. C.M. also received a master's degree in elementary administration this summer and they have all just moved to a new home.

Susan Burbo Speers also wrote about the birth of their son, Andrew Martin, last October 21, right on his due date for a change. She also wrote that Donna Harrison Lile has moved to Bowling Green, Ky. and that they were also expecting their first child this summer.

Please let me hear from more of you, even if it's only a few lines on a Christmas card. It makes our job so much easier!

Sincerely,
Judy

Helen Sullivan Lovelace wrote to say that she and Bobby have moved to Burlington, N.C., where Bob has received a promotion with Crawford & Co. Helen stays busy with Amy, who is approaching that one year mark. They are busy redecorating another old house.

Julie Ann Storz Weigel wrote to say that she did social work after graduation and then taught seventh grade in New Jersey and in Pirmasens, Germany, with the Department of Defense for a year. Now she is married and back in New Jersey, where she and Raymond are busy working on their English Tudor home.

Stephanie Danahy Shellhouse is still in Fredericksburg and taught at the Governors' School at MWC this summer. Her two children are really growing up.

Judy Bennett Russell and Billy have adopted a new little girl, Betsy, who is the sweetest child— all dimples and smiles! Sean has really fallen in love with her! Judy and I still take our "Mothers' Day Out" occasionally for our luncheon— antiquing sprees.

It looks as if Bob and I will be around here for another few years so we ate attempting to buy a house in the area; we rented one just a little south of Old Town and are awaiting its completion. Bob is now with DIA and I've been doing some modeling for "Frankie Welch of Virginia." I'm going to attemt some substituting this fall, too, as Sean is going to a nursery school one day a week. That's about it for now— Be happy!!

Beginning with my beloved old roomie, Lil Mumford Sudduth— we last saw each other in June. We met in Richmond for Beth Fleming Skidmore's wedding. Liz came back to Roanoke with me but left early, due to illness. Don't 'spose I'll see her anytime soon since school's in session and both she and her husband, Chip, teach. Liz teaches second grade at Grafton Village in Stafford Co. and Chip teaches Elementary Physical Education at Fredericksburg and is basketball and baseball coach at James Monroe.

Saw the rest of our sophomore suite at the reunion in April, with the exception of Lin Ferrell, who was married to Ben Bloomenthal that Sunday at her reunion weekend back in Richmond. I understand that with Lin's artistic abilities, she's turned it into a real showplace. Pam Hopkins Peek is working at Ohio Bell Telephone in Columbus, O., while Richard finishes up at Ohio State.

Linda Clark Craft is working with a tremendous case load as a social worker in Albermarle Co. Harry (Tad) is managing a men's store and they both stay busy looking for a house. Pat Aden is counseling junior high kids in the D.C. area. Pat had taught French before she got her M.A. and even managed to spend a year in France with a group of her students. She had plans for a trip to Canada this summer.

Beth Fleming Skidmore and Alex have returned from what sounds like a fantastic honeymoon in Europe. They saw Sally Reichow Mayor, '71, Andre and Patricia in Costa Bravo, Spain, then visited Sally at her home in Switzerland. Beth and Alex are trying to fix up their newly purchased old townhouse in Richmond while they both teach school. I was surprised to hear that Beth's teaching with an old Roanoke MWC alumni cronie, Lynn Dee Armstrong Garrison, '68. I hated to see Lynn Dee move but Roanoke Memorial Hospital has sent Bob to Richmond for further training as a hospital administrator.

I see Lawson Stillman Greenwood, '68, occasionally. Besides being a busy wife to Terry, a special agent with the Secret Service, and mother to two sons, Jody, 3, and Todd, 15 months, she is president of the Roanoke MWC Alumni. She planned a great luncheon for the new MWC freshmen and their mothers in August. At that time I saw Susan Bowen Speers, '68, who, after earning her M.A. at U.Va. had a baby, Andrew, in October '73. So now, to utilize all that knowledge, she plans to substitute teach in Roanoke Co. this fall. Saw Cindy Arcurie Thacker, MWC-UVA, in July. Looks like Cindy, John, Christopher (2½) and ? (due in January) are planning to make Charlottesville their permanent residence— they just bought a super house. Cindy is teaching La Maze while John works on his Ph.D.

Also, I had a surprise visit from T.K. (Tommy) Wright Pratt, MWC-UVA. She and Tommy were up from Rocky Mount, N.C., where she's a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner and he's working for Planned National Bank. We visited them in June and they have a beautiful older home which they are fixing up.

I saw Betty Olander Adams at the reunion, but was there but didn't see much of him; had his nose buried in a book studying for his Bar Exam. I hope he's successfully through that trauma. Betty and Alex were still living in Baltimore at that time.

Maureen Maran Wikane wrote way back in April to say that she wouldn't make it to the reunion due to good news— she is pregnant. She was sweet enough to enclose a photo of herself with husband, John— she looks happier than ever. The baby is due any day now so I'll relay the vitals at a later date.

Tiare Klaweness is living in London and flying all over the world for Pan Am. At that time she had just spent four weeks vacationing in East Africa— Safari and all. She really sounded like she enjoys her work too.

Bobbi Amor Reid is residing in Marietta, Ohio, where she is mother to Roxzanne (2½) and Justin (1). Stan is manager of all the foods at Marietta College. Barb Henderson Riordan, Dick and Jonathan (2½) paid us a brief visit over the 4th of July while they were staying with her parents in Blacksburg. Dick is with Bell Laboratories and Barb does part-time work at a decorating shop— just up her alley. They sold their townhouse and moved into a larger house nearby in Burke, Va. They needed the additional room since their family is expanding— Barb is due with No. 2 in October.

Susan Coffin taught Montessori in the D.C. area for several years then split for Europe, basing herself in Holland. She had planned to come to the class reunion in April but wasn't home in time. Now, before she's even gotten readjusted to the time difference, she's off again, this time to Paris, where she'll be teaching kindergarten at the American School. Jeannine Savrel Fearns is due to have her first child in October.

I plan to substitute teach in Roanoke Co., take an art course and do some volunteer work this fall. That, plus Emily and Jerome will keep me more than busy for now.

Please don't take seriously that old adage, "No news is good news."

Marge

P.S. Just called Lis Muirheid Sudduth to make sure some of this info is correct and learned that she spent nearly three weeks bouncing around Europe soon after she left my house in July. She left in a flurry so didn't have time to line up rendezvous with our many friends on the other side of the Atlantic. As all flights home were booked solid for a week ahead when she was ready to return, Liz managed to con a seat in the cockpit with a pilot her father knows. Same ol' escapades, Liz— wish we could've had made it a duo!

We have purchased a house here in Keokuk. It seems that the Army plans to keep us here for a few years, so it was a good chance to settle down a little. We have lots of room, so please feel free to visit if you're ever in Iowa.

I am now teaching math and physics at the Catholic high school here in town. The new job and the new house have managed to keep me more than busy.

Kay Johnson Brown became the mother of her first son, Stephen, on Mother's Day. How appropriate!

Linda Sargent Kaufman wrote from Wiesbaden, Germany, where John has been stationed since July. They are already making the most of their central European location, with a trip to Spain planned for this fall.

Linda Heath Sykes wrote that she and Mike are in the process of moving back to Virginia. Mike will be working with Virginia National Bank in Norfolk.

That's all the news I've received since our last newsletter. Doesn't that make some of you feel just a tiny bit guilty about neglecting your class agent? If so, drop me a line. Just a postcard will do to let me know what you have been doing. I'll be waiting to hear from you all.

Upcoming is our first big reunion (though it is hard to believe it's been five years!), let's make an effort to fill out the questionnaires and any other information requested to make this Homecoming a special one. Hope to see all of you there!

Virginia Baker Eckerson reports that she and Bruce are redoing a 30-year-old house in Reading, Mass. Bruce is still working for New England Telephone, and Dinny was a research assistant in with an M.D. at Harvard Medical School in Boston. Since June, however, she has been working at home— probably decorating a nursery for the baby expected in November.

Pat Foppert Rubine and husband Allen are living in Providence so she could complete her masters in guidance counseling. Allen has been working as a law clerk to the federal district judge there. Haven't heard where they're living and working now.

Marilyn Bovey and a friend are renting a house in Alexandria. She is working with computers, and has to travel to St. Paul— sounds like an interesting job. Robert and Kathy Grace Bond are furnishing their Richmond townhouse, and she works in customer relations at the First and Merchants Bank.

Ronald and Lindsey Davies Hamway had their second child last fall, and now they have a younger sister for Wendy.

Ed and Lynda Rice White, '68, are living in Burke, Va. and had their first child in June.

Dick and Gaye Gregory Barch are in Georgia once again— first at Ft. Benning, and now at Moody AFB. Understand they'll be returning to Virginia in November.

Linda Johnston is working at the UVA Medical School as a research assistant in Infectious diseases.

Jeff and Sally Cowgill Dykstra bought a 75-year-old house in Milford, Delaware.

Sally is teaching junior high English, and Jeff works with a dental supply house. Sally started out with us, then transferred to the U. of Md.

Ken and Nancy Jones Scott are living in Annapolis; he is a lawyer with a firm there and she is a nurse at the hospital.

Bev Alexander finished her doctoral work in electro-chemistry at American U. She was married in July and they are living in Charlottesville.

Maria Price Morrison is currently completing her doctoral studies in art history at UVA.

Susan Wagner and Marion Blakey are living in their remodelled house in Washington, D.C. Susan has her masters degree in American studies from George Washington University, and works at the National Endowment for the Arts. Marion is undertaking graduate study at Johns Hopkins School for Advanced International Studies, and also works at the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Joanne Sinsheimer is working for the Social Security Administration in Chicago.

Carol Walb, who left MWC after junior year, is now completing her degree at the University of Mass.

Kathy Schowacher,'71, is attending law school at night at Catholic University and has a good job as a legislative aide to a Miami congressman.

Nanette Johnson,'71, lives in St. Louis where she designs computer programs.

Liz Vantrease and Anne Gordon Greever are working on a weekly newspaper in Richlands, Va. Anne Gordon, however, plans to enter law school this fall. Jane Toussaint,'71, and Robin Darling,'72, are reporters for a suburban weekly in Fairfax, and Barbara Holiday,'71, writes for a weekly in Elkton, Md.

As of July 1, Liz Vantrease, assumed the role of State Coordinator of the Virginia Women's Political Caucus– the office to which she was elected at the organization's state-wide retreat last June. Liz hopes the Caucus will join hands with the N.O.W., the AAUW, and various Business and Professional Women's Clubs in order to promote ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Lee Howland wrote from Somerset, N.J., where she works at AT&T. She said that Bertie Brooks is getting married on September 14 in Williamsburg. I apologize, but I don't know Mike Bridegroom's last name! Lee saw William and Susan Johnson Gillette in Courtland last April. Lee said that Kathi O'Neill has changed jobs and is now working with a branch of the FAA, I believe.

John and Anne Sommervold LeDoux sent a picture of 18-month-old Matt– a real charmer. They are still in Auburn, Ala. She said she and Matt flew to Va. this summer and met Donna Acerullo in Petersburg. They drove to Va. Beach and saw Paul and Loren Lawler Wiley and son Mark. Donna has moved to Connecticut from the Charlottesville area.

As I write this, we've just gotten back from putting the final touches on Jeff's new dental office– tomorrow will be the first day! It really looks good.

Again, let's all make an effort to attend Homecoming festivities in April– hope to see you there!

Lucia

It is so difficult to realize that we have been out of school for five years now. There is still that anxiety that arrives with the fall, the anticipation of starting a school year. But for Bill and I, this fall marks the completion of a long year in Mississippi. Bill will finish his jet transition training in two months and we will leave the Navy and go back to the Marine Corps. I have been kept busy with swimming lessons this summer. (Thank heavens for Miss Droste's WSI course) and of course keeping up with Sara. Kirsten Mackey Fleisher is living in Richmond with her husband, Tom. I don't know what Kirsten is doing, but you classmates in Richmond should have a real big get together. Kirsten wrote that Anne Howell Bowen has her husband are at Quantico and are doing well. Barbara Jerpe Clark and her husband, Bobby, have two boys, Jay and Jonathan.

Pat Dengler received her masters in psychology at Temple University and is currently Assistant Director of Career Services at Temple in Philadelphia.

Elaine DeWitt Garland was married in February to K. Patrick Garland. They met while both were working in the State Department. Pat is a political scientist working on his doctorate in history in Quebec City while Elaine is attending Laval University studying French as well as working on her masters in economics. Pat is second-in-command at the U.S. Consulate in Quebec.

Gretchen Gregory Davis is almost finished with her masters at the University of Missouri in Secondary Administration, and she is teaching math and physics. Gene is doing his residency in radiology at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. Gretchen says they plan on being there at least until Gene finishes.

Kathleen McConnell has moved from Woodbridge to Alexandria but is still teaching in Woodbridge.

Carolyn Woodruff Thompson and her husband, George, have just moved into a lovely home in Moreland, Ga. that they have practically built themselves. Carolyn is no longer working, just enjoying the house and plans to start painting more. Cathy Neale Fisher and husband Bob see the Thompsons quite often. Cathy is working at the Atlanta Speech School while Bob is with a law firm.

Be thinking of our fifth year reunion this spring and please let me hear from you.

Brenda Jennings Louthian reports that she and husband Jerry,an accountant for the Norfolk and Western RR, were married in August, 1972. After a year's stay in Roanoke, they bought "Kimble Acres," a 35-acre farm in Franklin County, Va. where they raise Bassett Hounds and show horses. Brenda writes that she enjoys not only the peace and quiet of country living, but her job as a music teacher in the Roanoke elementary school system as well. Ray and Janet Weatherford O'Kelly also live in Roanoke where Janet continues her work in the local welfare department and Ray in his position as a pharmaceutical salesman.

Kay Ellis,'67, is in Northern Virginia, and that Jerry and Vicki Haynie Silver, '67, still live on a farm outside of Fredericksburg with their two children, Susan and Edward.

Early this summer, Dick and Lesley Fanning Atkinson, '69, visited me and from Salt Lake City where Dick attends U. of Utah, and Les works in the Admissions office. Dick will graduate next spring, so we're hoping they'll return to the east coast to settle. During their visit, we got together with several other alumni: Skip and Donna Bredhal Jones, Michael and Nancy Rolzer Schlosberg, '69, Bob and Polly Elkins Francis, '69, and Randy and Sally Wright Simmons. Soon after our "reunion", Skip and Donna and daughter Andrea moved to Hartford, Conn. after Skip was discharged from the Marines and began work as a sales rep for a pharmaceutical company. Nancy and Michael still live in Mich. where Nancy works in the garment industry while Michael continues med school. Working out in Reston, Kenny Fisher is doing well in his printing business, while Betty Jean "busies herself with the home and son, Lance. Trent and Chuck still live in Orlando where Chuck recently began a new job with another real estate firm. They're expecting their second child sometime this fall. Also a homemaker, Sally busies herself with daughter Erin, while Randy continues his work at the Great Falls, Montana A.F. base.

Karen Anderson Slay has been her job as a social worker in Arlington's Child Protective Service Bureau. She lives in D.C. not far from Barbara Pratt, who continues her job as a legal secretary.

My sister, Tanya Pagin McBee, '68, visited us twice this summer from Longview, Texas. It's such fun to see her and my two nieces and we really wish they weren't so far away. During her visits, Tanya saw Erie and Mary Jo Tatum Larkin, '68, in Richmond. Mary Jo recently "retired" from teaching and happily awaits their first child, while Ernie finishes his medical internship. Tanya also visited with L.J. Shields Evans, '68, and Paul and Terry Hurto,'68, who all live in the Northern Virginia area.

In August, Jeff and Susan Flavin Vincent moved to Columbia, Mo. where Jeff will earn his masters in journalism at the university. Susan was fortunate to find a job as a school teacher there.

With all these alumni visiting the area these past few months, Billy and I have had a busy summer. We didn't make it to Europe this spring, but . . . maybe next year. We did vacation in Key West and Orlando, though. Earlier in the year, we were both promoted to new positions– Billy as an Accounts Manager for C&P, and I as an Eligibility Supervisor with Arlington Social Services.

That's all for news our way. It seems like I keep writing about the same people each newsletter, so why don't the rest of you drop me a line. We'd love to hear from you!

Until next time!

Kirsten Mackey Fleisher and her husband have left Richmond and moved to Plainsboro, N.J., where Kirsten is teaching first grade. Linda Holt Armstrong and Brad have moved to Weston, Conn. Brad is working in New York City and Linda is expecting a child in February.Anne Howell Wood had a boy, Stephanie Anne, in March. Anne and Stephanie are now in Suffolk, Va., while Woody has a tour of duty in Okinawa. This past July, Lorette Hogan Nagle and Howe had a baby, Amy Rebecca. Judy Forrell Bechtold and Bill had a baby, Eileen Victoria.

Carol Greenwood ('69) is back in Richmond after a cross country trip to Arizona. Darlene Greenhalgh is still in Washington, D.C. and is tremendously enjoying her job. Doralee Lipoli is with March of Dimes in San Francisco, Calif. Dottie Holmes,'71, is a social worker for Henrico City of Richmond.

Mary Love Whiting Long is living in Titusville, Fla. She is working for TWA-NASA Tours at the Kennedy Space Center. Nettz Johnson Kelly and husband Patrick are living in Columbia, S.C. He has finished his degree and will be going to law school.

In June, Martha Christien married Mike Santoro in Charlottesville. Mike had just graduated from the UVA Graduate School of Business Administration. Martha has transferred to Washington and Lee Law School for her third year.

Edie Hudson Herron and Jim are living in Lemont, Pa. Edie is doing graduate work and taking care of her daughter Elizabeth Ann who was born August 5, 1973. Ann Marie Kenny Short and her husband have moved to Louise, Ky. She is very interested in getting in touch with other alumni in her area.

Ann Barr Butler is doing Social Work in Newark. Her husband John is with the FBI. Carolyn Collins Voss, '69, is working in Richmond. Her husband Randy has received his masters in math and is working towards becoming an actuary. Kathy Sheppard Mehfoud, who lives in Richmond, is busy with her two little boys and her husband David is a pharmacist in Sandston.

I'd really like to hear from moreclassmates– please don't forget to write and let me know what you are doing so I can pass along the new to everyone. Judy Mchanes has received an M.Ed. in Mathematics Education from the University of Virginia and is now teaching at Bell-Pilgrim Area School in Bethesda, Md. She and Jane Bourdow are living in Alexandria. Jane, who received an M.A. in Church Music from the American University in May, 1973, is director of music at Del Ray United Methodist Church and is active in two chapters of the American Guild of Organists.

Andre and I had a great one month vacation to the States– time went by much too quickly, but I did manage to see a few classmates while on our way to Disneyworld and back. We spent a night with Pat Killefer and her husband, Pat Durken, in Charlottesville. Patty is working as a dentist's assistant and Pat's in Vietnam with a construction company. We also stayed with Brenda Brittain Miller and Art in Norfolk. Brenda is working for a law firm and is now into a lot of para-legal work and loves it.

We saw Cathy Fleming at the Beach. Cathy is still teaching and living with Corinne Davis and Jeannie Mitchell. Driving through Fredericksburg, we dropped in on Stevi Smith Moore. Stevi's going housewife with a one-year old, which is real job! Beth Fleming was married to Alex Skidmore on June 29th in Richmond. Bridesmaids included Cathy Fleming, Pam Temple Roach, and Corinne Davis. Among the guests were: Sue Kain, who is still teaching kindergarten in Charlotte Clark,'72, who is doing social work in Richmond; Liz Minifield Sudduth, who is teaching in Fburg, where she and husband Chip have bought a house; Marge Rostmann Tankersley, '69, who spent a healthy summer with measles, Mumps, Chicken and Rubella. Marge was nice enough to share these with Liz. I hear that after their performance at Beth's wedding they are setting up their familiar duo again and are ready to tour the nation, any nation!! Beth and Alex– after recovering from their wedding reception– took a 6-week honeymoon to Europe. We had a great get together in Spain and another one in Switzerland. They spent a night with us in our Alpine retreat and Beth and I had great gab sessions. Once again time went by much too quickly.

Beverly Dan is working in Cincinnati for an art dealer and really enjoys her work. Diane Hicks Kash and Bob have been busy sh summer building their house in Spotsylvania County. Bob is doing most of the work himself.

Brenda Pritchett Boyles and John have bought land around F'burg and are busy building their house too.

Nat Youngren Hunt and Steve are still living in North Carolina. Nan is enjoying her job as a rental agent for an apartment building.

Julie McClelland Constantine has a new job with the Electronic Systems division of the Harris Corp. Julie is the secretary to the manager of field operations and seems to enjoy her work. Julie has also been playing a lot of sports on city league teams in volleyball and softball.

Janice Brady is working as a junior high school teacher in Waynesboro.

That's all the news I have – but I hope to get TONS and TONS of Christmas cards this year with lots of information for my next newsletter deadline of January 10, 1975.

Greetings from the Southland!

First, I'd like to correct an error made in the last newsletter. Barbara Bruce Selman and Jim were married last May and are now residing in Lexington, Ky. They have bought a home in the area and seem to be quite busy and happy. Jim is finishing his residency in psychiatry; while Barbara is looking for a job utilizing her masters in social work.

Ann Kiell Wilson and Jim have built a home in the country outside of Blacksburg, Va. Their lives seem far from dull, for while Jim is working on his Phd, in Environmental Science, Ann has been teaching English, Speech and Drama at Blacksburg High School. It does seem their lives will change shortly for they are expecting a child the end of September.

Penny Williams Sachs, '70, and Donn are living in Virginia Beach with their son, Aaron, who will be a year old in October. Donn sells real estate while Penny keeps the home fires burning after teaching for years.

Betsy Moore Feiffs, '70, and her husband Helmuts are living in Durham, N.C. where they're both working on their PhD's. Betsy also works as an elementary school counselor in the area.

After teaching in Norfolk since graduation, Shorman Mobey married Bob Tait last February. They are now residing in Hamden, Ct. where Bob works as a high school teacher.

Helen Marocchi Langehofer and Rick live in Ocean Springs, Miss. with their two-year-old son Jon. Rick is in the Air Force and is also attending school.

Fay Wells Wilfongg is teaching biology at Blacksburg High, while her husband Richard (former MWC biology professor) finished his PhD at VPI this past June. Richard will now be the assistant principal at Blacksburg High School.

Barbara Costantini, '73, continues to reside in Trenton, N.J., while working in New York.

Monica Pupiton Arbacsa informed us that she and Bill will be expecting orders to Philadelphia this December. Bill should be returning Stateside from Japan this November, what a happy reunion that will be.

Melanie Fisher Kelley, '72, recently hung up her working gal's job to assume the role of housewife. She and Ken bought a home in Alexandria– how exciting. But even more exciting, they are expecting their first child this month. What birth announcements we'll have in the next issue.

Mary Garrahon, '72, is teaching in Monterey, Va. Suzanne Hodges is in graduate school at VPI and is number one in her class.

Sally Sarkisian ,'73, has spent the month of August in England with her son Mike while husband Bob cruises in the Mediterranean. Bob intends to leave the Navy shortly and settle his family down in Rhode Island. Sally looks forward to the move– at last to have the family together again.

Charlotte Seattle Lees and husband Bob have bought a home in Oceanside and they should be moving in shortly. Charlotte is now working for theBank of America while Bob is stationed at Camp Pendleton.

Jan McNeil Holcomb continues to work for the Orange County Welfare Department and will be continuing work on her masters program in public administration. Husband Bill recently assumed a new position as General Taylor's aide.

Michelle McAdams D'Amerra now lives in Orange, Calif., while Ron attends UCLA. He's working on his masters in systems management. Like us, they'll be travelling back East this winter. Ron will be reporting to Marine Corps Headquarters in D.C.

Norah Henry Fraizer and husband John are attending Kent State University where they are completing their work on PhD's in geography. Their future plans were uncertain, but please keep in touch, Norah. By the way, please get me your address!!

From the Flooms– what a month and to explain would take too much time. August 10th marked an important date for us since John Paul appeared into our lives. As the nurses said: "He's half-grown!!" and at 8 lbs. 3 ozs., he had to agree. We are quite pleased with our son and again feel fortunate to have been able to use LaMaze. Our days are quite hectic with 2 year old Tommy and baby John Paul, as well as preparing for a move back to Virginia.

Our wish to you– good days and a hope to see you in the near future. In the meantime keep in touch!

Fondly,
Jan

I hope everyone had a pleasant summer. Again we have many items with Sharma Smith Winters being the only one to write. She and Doug were married in February, 1971. For the school year 1971-72, Sharma taught social studies in West Virginia. Since then she has been teaching the "Trainable mentally retarded" in Kanawha County, W.Va., and will continue in this position this fall. In May, Sharma received her master's degree in special education from West Virginia University. Doug finished his junior year at West Virginia Tech, and is majoring in chemical engineering. He worked this summer with Union Carbide. Since the summer of 1971, Sharma has been dancing with the Charleston Civic Ballet directed by Andre Van Damme. Her next performance will be in October.

Pamela Rose Hall still enjoys her job with Bank of Virginia. She and Steve moved into their new house in July.

Bob and I likewise made a move in July, and we enjoy living in Richmond. I am taking a year or so off from teaching. It has been disappointing not to hear from more people. Please write so your classmates can keep up with what you are doing, as I do receive requests for information about various people. My next deadline is the beginning of January.

Hope to hear from some of you.

I have a few notes for you from a former MWC crowd:

Suzan Lobenow is living here in Charlottesville, as are so many MWC graduates, and is a draftswoman for the City Engineering department. Her tennis is better than ever, as she gets to practice often on the crowded C'ville courts with Margie Garmey, who is working with the University Hospital in a field of research concerning animal study. MWC's geography department amply prepared Susan for her career, but Margie doesn't have a lot of occasion to use her drama background at the Hospital. Margie, who is also a volunteer working in the local jails, and Susan, who often helps me with graphic work for my office, are both a great help to me in work with correctional change. I work with a National organization based in Charlottesville whose goal is to upgrade the jails of the country, and help develop a constituency for correctional change in general. Robbie Barner, '71, has also been doing some very commendable work in this field in North Carolina. Our mutual interest in social work has prompted some private research which may someday produce a book written by Susan, Margie and myself. Any support our Alma Mater wishes to offer will be accepted.

Debbie Brown, '71, is using her MWC training in economics, in her work in the VNB at a stock brokerage. Linda Royster is also working in D.C., in a field of economics. Jane Tousslin, '71, is also in D.C. Anne Gordon Greever, Liz Van Treese, '70, and Jane are still politically active and all three are in journalism. I don't think I know the names of their respective papers, however, Anne and Lizzie are based in Richlands, Va.

Joyce Garber, '71, is here in Charlottesville. Having finished her MA in English at UVa in '73, she has been teaching at Lane High School. Despite the frustration of the first year of teaching, Joyce will be back at Lane in the fall. She is working for Ralph Nader in D.C. this summer.

My husband, Thom, is working in Fluvanna County as a draftsman-surveyor and hopes to finish his education at UVa, going on for his MA in city planning. He's been talking about the possibilities of looking into MWC for some coursework also. Together, and with our friends, we hope to be able to build a positive community for change, throwing our respective talents and ideals in to the effort over the next several years.

I think most of Nancy Mitchell and Dr. Leidecker, who were so helpful and inspiring to me at school. Recently we visited Becky Davis in Fredericksburg and had a good evening discussing the drama department, etc., and comparing our hopes for the future. We warmly remember Dr. Klein, and Margie speaks of him often. It is gladdening to see that our friend, Joe Dodd, '74, has done so well . . . it is especially commendable that the Alumni Association have taken the time to recognize his very extensive talents. Hello to everyone,

Best regards,
Elaine M.M. Deller Bell

Dear Class of '72,

Nancy Osborne Elmore wrote that Bob received his USAF pilot's wings last November. After three months of further training in San Antonio, Texas they are now back in Georgia where Bob is a pilot instructor and Nancy works for the Registrar of Valdosta State College.

Both Nancy and Bob attended the marriage of Nancy's roommate Martha Stansell to Lt. Kurt Vogel (a classmate of Bob's at pilot school) on July 6th in Virginia. Martha's sister Betty Stansell Tice, '70, and Nancy were the bridesmaids. At present, Martha and Kurt are stationed in Plattsburg, N.Y.

Nancy further wrote that Pam Landreth Rooney was married to Bill in March after Pam completed her master's in geography at the University of Maryland. The newlyweds are residing in San Francisco.

For me, it's back to teaching after an exhausting 5-week tour of the west. I met former MWCer Dany Samuelson in Dallas and the two of us drove up and over to California, down the coast, and back over to Dallas. We had a grand time camping and playing tourist.

Drop me a line or two!

Kitty

On August 24th, Pat Watts married Skip Doty in Norfolk. The wedding was beautiful and I was honored to be matron of honor. Many MWC friends were there, Sallie Carter Voth and her husband, Mike, came from Charlottesville. She is still enjoying being a medical technologist . Patsy Gould Rosenberg also came from Fredericksburg. Patty is now working at the Papagallo Shop while Eric, her husband, continues his education. Anne Gray Jones Fuller and her husband Steve came from Fredericksburg, too. Anne Gray is teaching math in junior high school.

Kathy Daley Buckley had a baby boy, 8 lbs. 10 oz. on August 17 which they named Christopher Forbes Buckley. Congratulations Kathy and Ronald!

I am back to teaching fourth grade. We moved three weeks ago just down the street, so please notice my change of address. I know this news isn't very long, but I really haven't heard from many of you.

Anne H. Gillette received her M.Ed. in counselor education from U. Va. in May. She is currently employed as a social worker in Chesapeake, Va.

Please let me know what you all are doing.

Susie

Sue Passarello received this letter from President Emeritus Simpson concerning the Class Gift:

Dear Sue:

What a lovely and thoughtful idea and what a magnificent book! How can I ever thank you and your classmates for your generosity and your affection. I shall always treasure the gift and continue to enjoy it, as I have done constantly since last Saturday.

Mrs. Simpson was not permitted to land on Mt. Athos (not even female cats can go ashore), and after I saw the place, I was convinced that a few women would have helped, Boy, it was a dreary place! However, the works of art, chiefly the illuminated manuscripts, were something to behold. Everything was so badly lighted that, actually, you can see the manuscripts better in the book than you can in reality.

I don't know how you can get the substance of my thanks to the rest of the class, but somehow, I am sure that, as rescurceful as you are, you will find a way to let them know how deeply I appreciate the gift, and most of all, the idea behind it.

Come to see us when you are in town.

Sincerely,
Grellet C. Simpson

Alumni Fund Report, 1973-1974

1,663	Alumni Gifts	$28,558.78
13	Chapter Gifts	1,993.57
8	Faculty and Staff Gifts	383.00
8	Parent Gifts	230.00
29	Matching Gifts from Corporations	1,625.00
4	Non-Alumni Gifts	43.00
6	Business and Industry Gifts	325.00

"The economic situation if the world resulting in the financial pinch felt by alumni is probably the most important reason for the 1973 - 1974 Alumni Fund total holding steady," says Anne Hilgartner Bruckner, '61, Alumni Fund Vice President. "I feel that our slight increase in gifts is indicative of the fact that alumni are interested, but feel strapped by financial pressures."

Mrs. Bruckner stated that the alumni must be challenged to widen the scope of their support by giving a gift and then encouraging other alumni to do the same. "Greater avenues of support must be found but this can only happen if the home team (alumni and other College friends) gives strong evidence of support," said Mrs. Bruckner.

The 1973-74 Fund year closed June 30 with a record $33,158.35, up slightly from the $32,799.18 of the 1972-73 campaign.

Statistics show that while giving was up slightly, alumni participation dropped from 16.6% ('72-73) to 15.1%. The average alumni gift rose from $17.09 during the previous campaign to $17.16.

Alumni chapter telethons were held in Richmond, Peninsula, Fredericksburg and Fairfax County, Virginia. Spearheading the effort for 1973-74 was Nancy Powell Sykes, '62, National Telethon Chairman. Chapter telethon chairmen were Ronda Ellis Smith, '64 (Peninsula); Susie Church Dillon, '67 (Fairfax County); Conchita deMedio Gilbertson, '47 (Fredericksburg); and Pat Johnson Orgain, '66 (Richmond). Telethon totals were: Richmond, $625.00; Peninsula, $1,163.00; Fairfax County, $510.00; and Fredericksburg, $817.00.

Mary Belle Carson, '71, was chairman for local business campaign. Under her direction, members of the Fredericksburg Chapter contacted key businesses for support to the Fund.

Anne P. Fortney, '66, served as Special Giving Chairman and in this capacity wrote letters to alumni asking them to join one of our major gift clubs. Her efforts and alumni generosity were responsible for over $11,000.00 in major donor club gifts.

Appearing in this issue is the annual Honor Roll of donors. Only those alumni and other friends whose gifts arrived by the June 30, 1974 deadline are listed. Those whose gifts arrived July 1, 1974, or later will be counted in the 1975 campaign.

To each of you who contributed and the many who worked on the 1974 campaign, the Alumni Fund Committee extends a sincere 'thank you'.

Want to Recruit a Student For MWC?

The members of the Mary Washington College Alumni can be effective in encouraging qualified students to consider attending the College. If each Alumnus recommended just one prospect to the College, there would be a pool of 10,000 applicants! To help the Office of Admissions to identify potential students, submit on the attached card the name and address of one or more students.

A letter from the Director of Admissions will be mailed to the student together with appropriate material. Your name will be cited as the one who recommended the prospect, unless you indicate otherwise. Should the prospect submit an application for admission you will be notified of the decision, usually between February 15 and April 1 of the student's senior year.

With a large pool of applicants Mary Washington College can continue to fulfill its role of providing a superior liberal arts education to those students who have the potential to profit from the programs here.

Please send information about MWC to the student whose name appears below:

Name_____

Street Address_____

City_____ State_____ Zip_____

School attending_____ Year of Graduation____

Academic interest if known_____

Recommended by_____ Class of_____

Address_____

You (may) (may not) use my name as reference in your letter.
